17TH REGIMENT GOES TO PANAMA IN NEAR FUTURE

General Evans Brings Information From Washington.

TO TRIPLE ISTHMUS FORCE

After Their Departure, New Regiment Will Be Sent to Atlanta to Tenant Fort McPherson.

Orders to Panama will be issued within the next few months to the Seventeenth regiment, now stationed at Fort McPherson, said Brigadier General R. K. Evans last night after his return from Washington, where he has been in conference with Major General Wood and the other army heads for the past ten days.

"To guard that vital strip of land across the isthmus from the possible invasion of foreign powers, the United States is preparing to triple its army force stationed there," said General Evans. "At present there is only one regiment, of 900 men, the Tenth infantry. The army heads are preparing to increase this force to an entire brigade, which means that two more infantry regiments, a battalion of field artillery, a squadron of cavalry and extra coast artillery will be dispatched from various military posts to Panama.

"Army posts to provide for this brigade strength are to be constructed in Panama this spring. An appropriation bill, carrying $4,000,000 for this purpose, is expected to pass congress within a month or six weeks. As soon as the money is in hand, the work will begin, and the posts will be ready for occupancy then within three or four months."

TIME FOR THE SEVENTEENTH TO GO INTO FOREIGN SERVICE

While no official statement has been made yet as to which regiments of infantry will be ordered to the canal zone, it is practically certain, said General Evans, that the Seventeenth regiment will be one of those so ordered. The Seventeenth has now served seven years within the borders of the United States, since its return from the Philippine islands in 1905, and, according to army regulations, when a regiment has served seven years at home it is eligible for foreign service at the first opportunity. Only three other regiments are in the same box. They are the Fifth, at Plattsburg barracks, in northern New York; the Twenty-seventh, at Fort Sheridan, in the suburbs of Chicago, and the Twenty-eighth, at Fort Snelling, between Minneapolis and St. Paul. None of these are as convenient to Panama as the Seventeenth. Therefore, said General Evans, and for other reasons, the regiment now in Atlanta will be the very first to go to Panama.

One of the other reasons that makes this conclusion certain is that the army heads are laying plans to send three more regiments to Honolulu, to carry out a recently-decided-on policy of increased forces in the foreign islands of the United States. The Twenty-Seventh, the Twenty-Eighth and the Fifth are much more convenient for dispatching to Honolulu from their posts than is the Sevenfeenth.

"MARCHING ORDERS" WILL PLEASE M'PHERSON TROOPS

When the boys at Fort McPherson get their "marching orders," most of them will be so delighted that they will throw up their caps and shout for joy. For the soldier is instinctively of a migratory disposition. He loves to be on the "go." The Seventeenth was glad when it was ordered to the Mexican border in 1910, and it was glad when ordered back to Atlanta in 1911. During the year's absence, Fort McPherson was deserted, save for a hospital corps.

If the Seventeenth is ordered to Panama, however, some other regiment will be ordered to Fort McPherson, either at once or several months later. This will not interfere at all with the proposed extension of Fort McPherson into a brigade post, with three regiments stationed there instead of only one. General Evans is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of this proposal, and on his recent trip to Washington he took occasion to boost the brigade post for Atlanta as much as possible. General Wood himself, at a dinner in Atlanta last month, declared that eventually a brigade would be stationed here, according to present plans. It was General Wood who selected the Seventeenth regiment to be present at the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson in Washington next March.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN FATAL TO THIS WOMAN

Salt Lake City, January 20.—Mrs. Edyth Ellerbeck Read, member of the Utah legislature, died today of nervous prostration. She was elected on the republican ticket at the last election and her condition became critical as the result, it is said, of an exciting campaign.

THERE'S a very distinctive line of division between two days. The interval of sleep which separates them wipes out a very many of yesterday simpressions, and leaves the mind free for those that first come to it in the morning.

Thus there's a REAL REASON why advertising in a morning newspaper influences the buying for the day.

WOMAN TOSSES BODY OF BABY FROM AUTO

Machine Speeds Away Before the Number Is Secured by Police.

A handsome limousine chugged down East Hunter street to Pryor Saturday at noon and turned down South Pryor street toward Mitchell. Midway of the block, the driver turned around and drove back toward the junction of Hunter.

A middle-aged woman was at the steering wheel, and a younger woman sat in the tonneau. The latter held a long, wide box in her lap. As the machine neared the corner, a door swung open and remained so.

A group of laborers stood on the southeastern corner of Hunter and Pryor streets. Motorcycle Policeman E. W. McHugh stood near the center of the street waiting for a car. As the limousine rolled past the laborers, the woman in the tonneau pitched the box through the door.

It fell in the midst of the group. The woman at the wheel swerved the car behind an oncoming trolley car and drove through a mass of traffic, thereby obscuring view of the machine to the men at the corner.

The box was made of heavy pasteboard, and was bound in strong wrapping paper and cord. It contained the body of a baby that had died, presumably, at birth. When the box was opened and the grewsome discovery made the automobile from which the package had been thrown was lost completely.

Policeman McHugh carried the box and body to police headquarters. The dead infant was turned over to an undertaker, and the box is being kept by detectives in the hope that it might furnish some clue to the mysterious woman's identity.

Positively no clue remains to the woman. No one obtained the number of the limousine and none paid close enough scrutiny to the car's occupants to recognize either the woman at the wheel or the passenger in the tonneau. All lettering had been defaced from the pasteboard coffin, and no marks are upon the swathings in which the body was wrapped.

Detectives working upon the case are asking the baffling questions of why the woman threw the body from the car at such a prominent downtown point, and why she did not drive to an isolated spot upon a country highway, where it would be possible to become rid of the grewsome burden without fear of discovery.

The junction of Hunter and Pryor streets is filled with pedestrains and traffic during the noon hour and it would have been impossible to have thrown the bundle to the street without being seen. Also, Policeman McHugh was standing within only a few feet of the spot where the box landed.

YOUTH ARRESTED AFTER HONEYMOON

J. Rutter Martin Was Trying to Make Fortune on Stolen Funds.

On the eve of acquiring money enough to restore the funds he had stolen from a Philadelphia firm, J. Rutter Martin was arrested yesterday at the instigation of Burns' detectives, and is being held at police headquarters on a warrant charging grand larceny.

He has been in Atlanta three months. Using money that he admits he stole from Childs' restaurant in Philadelphia, in which he was cashier, he established a cigar stand on Decatur street and a garage on Ivy street, near Edgewood avenue. He and his pretty 22-year-old wife boarded at 232 Capitol avenue.

He has made full confession of the crime. Intending to restore the stolen amount, he has asked the detectives for leniency, so that he might resume business. His wife stands by him, and paid him a visit in the police prison on Monday.

Several months ago young Martin was cashier in a restaurant in Philadelphia. He was a man of moderate means and had held the position for some time. He wooed and won Miss Eleanor Fortune, an attractive young girl living in West Philadelphia. Shortly before closing hours one night he relieved the tills of two of the restaurants of $3,000.

A few hours later he and Miss Fortune were married. The wedding was secret, and immediately following, the couple left on an early morning train for the south. An extended honeymoon was spent in parts of Georgia and Florida. Three months ago they came to Atlanta, where Martin arranged to invest in a business enterprise.

He first established the cigar stand on Decatur street, near Pryor. Business was good, and he prospered. Later, he invested in a small but up-to-date garage on Ivy street, near Edgewood avenue. He prospered here, too, and was rapidly accumulating funds enough to repay the amount he had stolen in Philadelphia.

Love of travel and the girl he married inspired the crime, he says. Also he wanted to go into business for himself, and was unable to do so upon his own financial resources.

The Burns men say they believe the prisoner will be able to settle affairs with the restaurant management, and that he probably will not have to return to Philadelphia. Since the time he left that city, Martin has been pursued by detectives. During the entire honeymoon he was trailed closely by Burns men, whom he managed to outwit until becoming established in Atlanta.

He will be held in Atlanta until legal proceedings have been started in Philadelphia. The Childs' management and Burns' offices in that city have been notified of the arrest, and word will be received from them some time today.

PULLMAN CO. MUST PAY FOR LOST VALUABLES

New York, January 20.—The appellate division of the state supreme court decided here today that sleeping car companies are responsible for valuables given by passengers to porters for safe-keeping. The decision was handed down in a suit brought against the Pullman company to recover the value of a diamond necklace entrusted to the porter by a woman passenger.

FIGHT ON LICENSE GIVEN BY MAYOR

"Exceeded Authority," Say Police Committee Members.

Lodging Houses Turned Down on Chief's Recommendations----Eight Clubs Denied Licenses.

Members of council are planning to revoke the license Mayor James G. Woodward issued to J. T. Hanjaras, a saloonman, to operate a pool room on Peachtree near Walton streets.

The license was issued to Hanjaras late Saturday afternoon and Monday morning the poolroom was running in full blast. The members who are preparing to oppose the license granted by the mayor are not pleased because he took the matter over the head of the police committee.

"It is illegal for the mayor to give anyone a license to operate a saloon or poolroom," said a member of the new police committee. "There has been a protest before the committee from business men in the neighborhood of the Hanjaras place and the matter should have been left with the police committee."

Mayor Woodward gave the license to Hanjaras after it had been represented to him that the applicant had been given to understand that the committee would make a favorable report.

odging Houses Turned Down.

Mayor Woodward would not discuss the Hanjaras license. He said council could do as it pleased in the matter.

The police committee met Monday morning and passed on a number of near beer licenses.

There were sixty-eight hotel and lodging house applications before council Monday afternoon and ten were turned down.

A fight will be made to prevent Chief Beavers from saying who shall be granted lodging house permits and who are to be turned down.

"It is giving one man too much czar-like power," Councilman Claude L. Ashley declared in council. "I am not defending disreputable places, but I don't want to see such a serious matter as this left entirely in the hands of the chief of police, or any other man. Let the committee do its investigating."

These Applicants Rejected.

The applicants turned down were:

Cannon hotel, 116 South Pryor street.

Mrs. Helen Cutsinger, 115½ Decatur street.

Mary Jacobs, 16 Piedmont avenue.

John E. Barry, 56½ West Hunter street.

Mrs. Annie Bradley, 14½ Decatur street.

John Parks, 21 Collins street.

George Caltis, 7½ North Broad street.

W. P. Middlebrooks, 83½ Peachtree street.

Mrs. Willie Day, 111 to 112 Spring street.

Chief Beavers made a report to the committee on each of the applicants, and the ones he reported unfavorably were turned down. Those he reported favorably on were in most instances, granted. The committee turned down seevral upon which Chief Beavers made favorable reports.

Eight locker clubs were turned down, among them the "Press Club," which was held up by the retiring committee because Atlanta newspapermen objected to the title. When the application of the club was heard early in December Councilman Humphrey, who was then chairman of the police committee, informed the promoters of the club that the permit would be turned down unless the name was changed. It was agreed that the name would be changed to the Ben Franklin Club.

Press Club Turned Down.

Since early in December the club has been doing business under the name of the "Press Club," and has its cards and purchase slips printed with the name on it.

Other clubs denied by the committee were the Georgia, Knights of the Mystic Arc, Co-operative Club, Southern, Laboring Men's Literary Society, Sixth Ward Club and the Unity Club.

Permits were granted to the Standard Club, T. M. A., Owls, Theatrical, Terrace, Eagles, M. & M., Beavers, Atlanta and the Transportation.

Members of the committee said that the permit was refused the Press Club because investigation showed that it was not an organization composed of newspapermen, as was represented to the committee.

HE SAID HE'D DIE WITH HIS BOOTS ON

And Louis Smith Proved True Prophet—Killed at Montgomery in Pistol Duel.

Montgomery, Ala., January 20.—Louis Smith, recently acquitted for the assassination of Brooks Fuller, a noted gunman of Montgomery, died tonight as he said he'd die—with his boots on—after a pistol fight with Louis Roney, a young broker.

The killing occurred just after the two men had taken a friendly drink together. Leaving a barroom they walked out on the street and began shooting. Smith was shot five times, and died instantly. Roney is in jail, charged with murder, and has not made a statement. It is understood the men quarrelled a week ago.

A few months ago Brooks Fuller was shot on a prominent downtown street from an upstairs window, and the blame was laid to Smith. Smith was killed within two hundred feet of where Fuller met his death.

TWO CHARTER REVISION COMMITTEES AUTHORIZED BY ACTION OF COUNCIL

Mayor Woodward's Foes Steam-Roll Humphrey Resolution

Effort Is Made to Give Council Control and Eliminate Citizens.

W. G. HUMPHREY THREATENS TO SLAP NUTTING'S FACE

One Committee Will Be Composed of Citizens and One Is Made Up From Members of General Council—Believed Committees Will Co-operate.

The city council of Atlanta "played politics" for three hours yesterday afternoon, in an attempt to defeat the charter reform movement and cut the throat of James G. Woodward, Atlanta's charter reform mayor.

The Humphrey resolution, providing for the appointment of a committee of ten citizens and five council members, was steam-rolled, and the resolution introduced by Alderman James R. Nutting, leader of the anti-Woodward element, was adopted. This provided for a committee composed of councilmen only.

Council's charter reform advocates then drew a resolution which was introduced by Alderman McClelland and Councilman Knight. It provided for a committee of ten citizens appointed by Mayor Woodward, one from each city ward, and urges close co-operation with the councilmanic committee. This was also finally passed. It is believed the two committees will now co-operate in revising the charter.

Only Councilmen Named Under Nutting Resolution

The Nutting resolution named its own committee to be composed of Mayor Pro Tem. James E. Warren, Aldermen John E. McClelland, James W. Maddox, James R. Nutting, F. J. Spratling and John E. Candler, and Councilmen A. H. Baskin, Alfred Thompson, Clarence Haverty and Claude C. Mason.

Judge Candler was named as chairman. The resolution affixes the title "Committee on Charter Revision," and provides that all proposed changes, amendments and revisions to the charter be referred to this committee regardless of where they originated.

Council adopted the Nutting resolution by a vote of 16 against 13, as follows:

For—Candler, Maddox, Nutting, Spratling, Baskin, Wardlaw, Thomson, Greer, Sisson, Wood, Boynton, Abernathy, White, Smith, Kimbrough and Mason.

Against—Harwell, McClelland, Van Dyke, Ragsdale, Lynch, Knight, Shephard, Ashley, Hall, Colcord, Humphrey and Haverty.

TRIUMPH OF INSURGENTS SWEET, BUT PROVES SHORT

The triumph of the insurgents was short, however. Councilman D. Knight, a conservative member, introduced a resolution providing for the appointment by the mayor of ten citizens, one from each ward, to formulate a new charter and submit it to the people.

The resolution was a master stroke, and was engineered through by Councilman Knight and Alderman McClelland.

"We'll let both charters go to the people at the same time," declared Alderman McClelland.

Alderman Nutting hastily prepared an amendment to the Knight-McClelland resolution providing that the charters drawn by the council committee and the citizens' committee be submitted to the general council.

"Let both charters go before the people," Councilman Knight suggested. "It is not necessary for council to pass on either."

WARREN PLEADS AGAINST DIVISION OF COMMITTEES

Mayor Pro Tem. Warren dropped his gavel and took the floor. He pleaded against a division of the two committees.

"It would be a misfortune to get up two charters," he said.

Alderman Ragsdale offered an amendment to consolidate the two committees.

Judge Candler took the floor in urgent support of the consolidation.

Alderman McClelland charged council with "playing politics," and Alderman Nutting withdrew his amendment referring both charters to council.

Resolution Is Adopted.

The Knight resolution was adopted without a dissenting vote. It gives the entire matter the status of being in the hands of a committee, ten from council, as named in the Nutting resolution, and ten citizens. The committees will co-operate, it is believed, and

WHAT HUMPHREY RESOLUTION GAINED.

Forced council to recognize demand for charter revision.

Gives Mayor Woodward power to appoint a committee of ten citizens.

Gives voters of Atlanta a voice in final adoption of new form of government through the Candler referendum clause.

The Humphrey resolution by defeat took from mayor authority to appoint councilmanic committee.

Mayor Woodward will name the citizens to co-operate with the council committee.

If council does not recognize Mayor Woodward's committee it will revise charter and submit it to the people along with council's charter.

CITIZENS COME TO AID OF FIFTH

Campaign Committee Will Be Named This Afternoon.

Meeting Will Be Called for Chamber of Commerce Quarters Sometime on Wednesday.

That the Fifth regiment will represent Atlanta at President Woodrow Wilson's inauguration in Washington next aMrch now seems practically assured, according to the outlook as expressed on Monday by Colonel E. E. Pomeroy, commanding the regiment.

The proposed campaign committee which will engineer the canvass for the necessary funds to defray the expenses of the trip will meet in the chamber of commerce quarters Wednesday morning and outline plans.

Colonel Pomeroy announced on Monday that a number of leading citizens have agreed to serve on this committee and exert every effort to push the project through. The names of those who will form this committee will be ready for announcement some time today.

Although the names of these citizens have not been disclosed, it is known that the committee will be made up of those substantial business and professional men in public life of whom it has always been characteristic to finish anything they start.

A number of men who had not heretofore expressed themselves, on Monday pledged their financial support to the movement.

The campaign to raise the money will be waged as rapidly as possible so that the funds for reserving transportation facilities and quarters in Washington may be available as soon as possible. The organizations of a hundred other cities are doing exactly the same thing that Atlanta is doing, and the proposition of reserving accommodations promises to be in order soon.

PAID WIFE $1,000,000 TO AGREE TO DIVORCE

Pittsburg, Pa., January 20.—Josiah V. Thompson, well-known multi-millionaire coal and coke operator, of Uniontown, Pa., was granted a divorce today. The decree is a special one, and Thompson agreed to pay Mrs. Thompson $1,000,000. Each party to the suit had the right to marry again.

TWO PROMINENT MEN DIE WITHOUT WARNING

Arcadia, Fla., January 20.—Two prominent men dropped dead here today. This morning, Colonel Harland Davidson, prominent in educational work, and head of the military school at Highland Park, Ill., fell dead at his winter home in Avon Park.

This afternoon, Armond E. Hollingsworth, 38, well-known cattleman, was talking to his wife when he fell dead at her feet.

Both deaths are said to have been caused by heart trouble.

FORTUNE IN GEMS ESCAPED THIEVES

American Rogues Fail to Get $400,000 Worth of Pearls From London Jeweler.

London, January 20.—A determined but unsuccessful attempt was made Saturday night or Sunday to steal $400,000 worth of pearls from the establishment of Mark Ruban, jewel merchant, of 32 Heatborn viaduct.

In the opinion of Scotland Yard, the burglary was the work of a gang of American thieves, who left behind the most elaborate and costly set of electrical tools and appliances ever seen by the London police. In addition to a portable electric light plant, they abandoned twenty cylinders of oxygen and other gases.

A tent was erected around the safe to screen the operators from observation. They succeeded in cutting a large hole in the outer casing of the safe, which, however, was of the most modern construction. The inner shell frustrated their efforts, and the contents of the safe, including a vast quantity of pearls, were found intact.

The burglars apparently were disturbed while at work, and fled.

DEATH TO TRUSTS AND MONOPOLIES

Proposed in Seven Bils Fathered by Woodrow Wilson.

Wilson Predicts Measures Will Curb the Great Corporations in New Jersey.

Trenton, N. J., January 20.—President-elect Woodrow Wilson today reached what he considers the climax in his program of reform as governor of New Jersey. Seven bills making for the most extensive revision of the corporation laws in the history of the state were introduced tonight in the state legislature.

"These acts are designed to put an end to trusts and monopolies under the laws of New Jersey," declared Governor Wilson in a prepared statement describing the measure, "and I confidently predict that they will accomplish that much-desired result."

National Laws May Be Different.

Though the principle of the bills which seek to prevent monopoly, underselling in local markets, mergers, the existence of holding companies and the issuance of watered stock is one which the governor emphasized repeatedly during the national campaign, he declared tonight that the proposed legislation had been drawn with the conditions in the state of New Jersey alone in mind.

"These bills embody my ideas of the way New Jersey should deal with the question," he said. "National legislation might have to be different."

Ever since the close of the campaign the governor has been working on the problem of corporation reform. Chancellor Edward I. Walker and Judge Bennet Van Syckel assisted him, and tonight the bills were launched in the senate. As the acts are administration measures and the democrats have a comfortable majority in both houses, democratic leaders were practically unanimous in predicting that they would be enacted with little opposition.

Prison as Well as Fine.

The feature of the bills that attracted most attention was the provision making violations of the proposed law a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment as well as fines. The bills go into extensive detail in defining trusts, monopolies and mergers. It was pointed out in the statement issued from the governor's office, however, that while mergers and consolidations are prohibited in general, the proposed laws do not intend to prevent legitimate expansion of a business concern by the purchase of property "cognate in character."

Provision for this is made in the second of the series of bills, which says:

"When stock is issued on the basis of the stock of any other corporation no stock shall be issued therefor in an amount greater than the sum actually paid for such stock in cash or its equivalent; provided, that the property purchased or owned by the corporation whose stock is purchased must be cognate in character and use to the property used or contemplated to be used by the purchasing corporation in the direct conduct of its own proper business."

Watered Stock Barred.

This still permits, it is stated, a corporation to extend its business by the purchase of the property, including the stock of another corporation, if its business be the same, but prevents the issuing of watered stock in the transaction. It has nothing to do with holding companies, which are otherwise treated, it is contended.

While the bills, it is claimed, take away none of the rights of existing corporations, they do restrict these companies from extending their holdings, and make them subject to the provisions forbidding underselling, discriminations and other monopolistic practices. Present companies will be affected, so far as stock issuances and mergers are concerned.

Among the larger combinations chartered under New Jersey laws are the United States Steel corporation, the Standard Oil company, the American Tobacco company, the American Sugar Refining company, the International Harvester company, the Amalgamated Copper company, the United States Leather company and the Rock Island Railroad company.

The governor spent the day at the statehouse, and did not leave until 10 o'clock tonight. Rabbi Stephen Wise, of New York, lunched with Mr. Wilson. The governor said Rabbi Wise had mentioned the Russian passport question to him, but he did not disclose details of the conversation.

Senators Newlands, of Nevada, and Chamberlain, of Oregon, told the governor that besides themselves they represented other western senators in urging for secretary of the interior Governor Norris of Montana, Governor Hawley of Idaho, Joseph R. Teall of Oregon, or Democratic Chairman Pallman of Nevada. Representatives Hardwick and Bartlett of Georgia, presented the names of several Georgians for the cabinet.

PROBE ORDERED BY GOVERNMENT OF BELL SYSTEM

Telephone Problem Up to the Commerce Commission.

COMBINE OF $600,000,000

Far-Reaching Results Are Expected. Government Ownership of Wire Lines a Possibility.

Washington, January 20.—Regulation by the interstate commerce commission of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, and not by the compulsory competitive provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law, will be th means of solving, in large measure, the so-called telephaone trust problem, according to Attorney General Wickersham, who today announced he had referred the whole question to the commission for investigation and action.

This move terminates the investigation by the department of justice of the alleged $600,000,000 telephone trust, against which independent telephone companies have made charges of unfair treatment and of the employment of methods destructive of competition.

The commission's investigation will be far-reaching in effect, and out of it is expected to grow the outline of a governmental policy with respect to the telephone and telegraph. It must be determined, according to officials, whether in the interest and convenience of the public, the telephone or telegraph monopoly, under rigid regulation, should be tolerated by the federal government, or whether the government should take over utilities; or, finally, competition should be enforced, under the Sherman anti-trust law and monopoly prohibited.

Chairman Lane, of the interstate commerce commission, formally announced tonight that "in response to information submitted to it by the attorney general, the interstate commerce commission will make an investigation into the operations, rates and practices of the various telephone companies."

What Wickersham Says.

Pointing to the complaints which have been lodged with the government against the American Telephone and Telegraph company, generally known as the Bell telephone system, the attorney says in his communication to the commission:

"Many of these questions, it seems to me, cannot be appropriately dealt with by the law department of the government, but should be made the subject of regulation after a careful investigation of the whole subject by your honorable body. The powers vested in you by statute appear to me to be ample to enable you to make a comprehensive and thorough investigation of the matter. It may be that as a result of such investigation you will

NOTICE TO THE GEORGIA MAP PUZZLE CONTESTANTS

The checking and verifying the number of towns and mileage of the many thousand solutions submitted in the Georgia Map Puzzle Contest has been a slow and tedious task. The Constitution hopes to have the work completed so that the announcement of the successful contestants can be published sometime between the 25th and 30th of January. The name, the address and the solution of each successful contestant will be in the announcement when published.

conclude that additional legislation should be suggested to congress. Quite a number of states have enacted laws vesting in public utilities commissions or similar bodies jurisdiction which had been executed, in some instances, in respect to the acquisition of telephone lines of one company by another and with respect to interchange of business and facilities between telegraph and telephone lines. State regulation, however, cannot be a satisfactory method of ultimate solution of the questions arising out of telephone operation. The value of a telephone service depends largely upon the facility of connecting every individual telephone user with any point upon any telephone line in the United States, but this should be attained under conditions which secure to the public the maximum of convenience upon the most reasonable terms consistent with a fair return upon the investment and under suitable supervision and control by your honorable body."

Powers of the Commission.

Dealing with the powers of the commission, Mr. Wickersham points out that the interstate commerce act makes telephone, telegraph and cable companies engaged in interstate or foreign business common carriers; requires that all their rates shall be just and reasonable, and prohibits the granting of undue or unreasonable preference to anyone.

That section of the act requiring common carriers to file with the commission and keep open to the public inspection, schedules of rates, fares and charges, the attorney general adds, probably is not broad enough to extend to telephone and telegraph companies. He holds, however, that the act confers upon the commission ample power of investigation on its own initiative, and he points to the section of the law specifically authorizing the commission to fix just and reasonable rates and to prohibit unjust and discriminatory practices by telephone and telegraph companies.

"Under the provisions of the statute referred to," continues the attorney general, "the commission is, therefore, fully empowered to make the most thorough investigation into the rates and practices of the telephone companies to determine what are reasonable maximum rates to be charged for communication from one state to another, and the practice to be observed in all o fthe dealings of the telephone companies with the public and with other companies. No comprehensive investigation into the organization, management and conduct of telephone companies has, so far as I am aware, ever been had by governmental agency.

"The investigation of this department has dealt only with certain suggested violations of the Sherman anti-trust act, but the whole problem of the relation of the government to the transmission of intelligence by telephone and telegraph is one of such far-reaching importance and so affects the welfare of the entire community that it appears to me to be a subject which should be thoroughly studied from the standpoint of the public, in order that a governmental policy, with respect to the telephone and telegraph business, may be intelligently formulated and adopted. The interstate commerce commission is clothed with the powers above referred to and the subject is one affecting such general public interests that I venture to suggest that you undertake this work. If these suggestions commend themselves to your honorable body, I beg to add that all of the information which has been collected in this department bearing upon the subject would be cheerfully put at your disposal."

Immensity of the Subject.

Calling the commission's attention to the immensity of the subject, Mr. Wickersham said:

"There are said to be some 20,000 independent telephone companies, epresenting investments aggregating many millions of dollars, which, together, operate somewhat more than 4,000,000 telephones. No one of these companies represents capital or business comparable in size with that of the American company or any of its principal subsidiary companies. The American Telephone and Telegraph company, either directly or indirectly or through subsidiary companies whose stock it owns, operates what is known generally as the Bell telephone system, which reaches upward of 70,000 places, distributed among practically all the states of the union, having some 4,500,000 telephones in use, and operating the principal long-distance lines between the states. It has an invested capital of a book value of nearly $600,000,000. It also is the owner of a large block of stock of the Western Union Telegraph company, through which it practically controls the operations of the telegraph and cable lines of that corporation."

Outlining complaints of independents against the American company, the attorney general says they charge the American has not contented itself with the normal extension of its system, but has purchased competing lines in such manner and in such circumstances as would destroy competition; that it has refused to make connections between local lines, not owned or controlled by it, and its own long distance lines, and terminated contracts and arrangements for the interchange of business between lines it has acquired and lines of independents.

Unsatisfactory Connections.

Complaint also is made, the attorney general adds, that in cases where American companies have assumed to make connections with independents they have done so in such manner as, in effect, to prevent a satisfactory exchange of facilities of communication, "thereby intending to discourage the patrons of the independent companies and drive them to the American companies."

Further, according to the attorney general, it is charged that the American company has discriminated between the lines of the Western Union Telegraph company, in which it owns an interest, and those of the Postal Telegraph company, in cases where telephone subscribers request to be put into communication with the Postal company for the purpose of sending telegrams. In places where there is no competition, the local and long-distance rates of the American companies are alleged to unduly high, said the attorney general, while in places where independents are established, rates have been reduced.

Instant Postum

"The family are delighted. I am a coffee-lover, but rarely had a cup of coffee that tasted better than a cup of Instant Postum."—Mrs. H. F. H., New York.

"I find Instant Postum is all you claim. It has a rich flavour which we have been unable to get out of coffee, although we have tried several brands."—Mrs. G. W. G., Duluth.

"It is really delicious. My family are regular coffee-drinkers, but since Instant Postum came, coffee has no show. Coffee never had the flavour that Instant Postum has."—N. M. W., Brooklyn.

"It has remained for Instant Postum to break me of the coffee habit. Eight days after leaving off coffee I feel infinitely better, but—what an appetite; eating twice as much."—R. E. L. N., Washington.

"Instant Postum has helped me more in a few days than dyspepsia tablets had done in a year."—W. R. N., N.Y. Mills, N.Y.

"I like it because I can fix it myself in a few minutes. If I use coffee I can't sleep. I slept last night so good after using Instant Postum."—Miss A. H., Pittsburg.

"We find it better and more healthful than coffee, and it is so convenient to make that even my husband and children have no trouble to get a cup ready. Coffee will never be brought into our household again."—Mrs. W. R., Watertown, N. Y.

DUTY ON LEMONS TO BE REDUCED

Sure to Be Cut in Half and May Be Abolished.

Witnesses Allege There Is a Lemon Trust and Underwood Thinks There's a Monopoly.

Washington, January 20.—Free lemons, or at least a 50 per cent cut in the present duty of 1 1-2 cents a pound, assumed shape today as part of the democratic tariff revision policy of the coming extra session of congress.

Most of the testimony before the committee on ways and means at three sesions today and tonight, while under the general subject of the agricultural schedule of the Payne-Aldrich law, bore on citrus products.

The Citrus Protective league, of California, and the Fruit Growers' exchange, which Chairman Underwood, of the committee, insisted was the selling agency for producers, contended for retention of the present duty on its products. The spokesman for these interests was G. H. Powell, of Los Angeles, formerly acting chief of the bureau of plant industry.

Trust Is Charged.

The New York Fruit exchange, comprising jobbers, importers, commission merchants and brokers, demanded elimination of the lemon tariff. Its spokesman, Eugene M. Travis, of New York, called the California industry a "trust that had abnormal profits," and declared it was the beneficiary of undue taxation on a household necessity.

Democratic Leader Underwood favors putting lemons on the free list, while some members of the committee were figuring today on three-quarters of a cent a pound as a fair compromise.

Mr. Powell urged that lemons remain at 1 1-2 cents a pound duty and oranges, limes, grapefruit, shaddocks and pomelos at 1 cent.

He said there were twelve lemons per capita consumed in this country annually and that the present tariff levy amounted to 3 1-2 or 4 cents per capita tax. He said the California growers got their lowest prices between the Alleghenies and the seaboard, where the competition was the fiercest, and the highest west of the Missouri river, where they commanded the market. He insisted that tariff reduction would lead to Italian monopolistic control of the American lemon market.

To Get All They Can.

"Your organization attempts to hold prices for the California growers?" asked Mr. Underwood.

"Yes, to get all they can," said Mr. Powell.

"If unable to get the price, you can ship elsewhere?"

"Yes."

"And you mean to say you go into the market and compete with yourselves?"

"There is competition in the different grades of lemons," Mr. Powell replied.

Mr. Underwood insisted on knowing if it was not the organization's purpose to maintain and regulate prices for the benefit of the producers in its organization. The witness would only concede that it was only to aid the producers, that the exchange did not attempt to fix prices, and that the products were sold in New York and elsewhere at public auction.

"Isn't all this monopolistic?" finally asked Mr. Underwood.

"Not at all; there is free competition," said Mr. Powell.

Mr. Travis testified that the New York Fruit exchange view was that the lemon industry no longer needs protection, and he pointed to the opening of the Panama canal as meaning a lowering of the freight cost on lemons.

Wants Duty on Pineapples.

R. Tyner Smith, of Baltimore, asked for a uniform rate of 20 per cent ad valorem on pineapples. He claimed that under the present law, imposing a higher rate, the Hawaiian pineapple packers had nearly, and would soon, entirely secure a monopoly of the trade in pineapples, to which sugar is added.

E. W. Durkee, of New York, for the American Spice association, wanted the present tariff on spices to remain. R. M. McCormick, of Baltimore, contended that a prohibitive rate on spices should be maintained for protection against impure food products from abroad.

Asked what would be the effect on Louisiana of making rice and sugar free of duty, S. Locke Breaux, of New Orleans, told the house ways and means committee:

"If the effect is so serious as to annihilate the rice and sugar business, then Louisiana will be in a condition of distress, such as has not occurred since the civil war."

The committee had taken up agricultural schedule of the tariff, and Mr. Breaux, Representative Broussard and W. B. Dunlap, of Beaumont, Texas, asked that the present tariff be maintained to protect rice growers against labor of the Orient.

Underwood Wants Revenue.

"What we want to do in arranging this tariff," said Democratic Leader Underwood, at the night session, "is to get a reasonable amount of importations so that we may get a reasonable amount of revenue. It is so especially in regard to oranges. Reasonable revenue is what we expect from the duty. You must take that portion of the competition. I expect my people in Birmingham, Ala., who make iron and steel, to take reasonable competition. I also expect others to stand a reasonable competition.

"We are going to put on the free list some real necessities of life. The tariff now looks like a mountain range with high peaks and low valleyes."

Mr. Underwood was replying to W. C. Temple, of Tampa, Fla., who said he had a quarter of a million dollars invested in citrus fruits, and who protested on behalf of Florida fruit growers against any change in citrus fruit tariffs.

"I do not think that you get a competitive tariff rate," Mr. Underwood continued. "It is prohibitive, hot competitive."

In support of his statement the majority leader quoted statistics showing an enormous drop in the importation of oranges.

J. K. Comstock, of Chicago, president of the Cuban Development company, advocated reduction of the tariff on grapefruit. L. B. Skinner, of Florida, urged that the present rate be retained. Stephen L. Bartlett, of Boston, asked that a reduction be granted on cocoa, and W. W. Wadhams, of New York, representing soap interests, asked for free tallow.

DIES IN ACT OF PUTTING ON SHOE

Coroner Holds Inquest and a Verdict Returned of "Natural Death."

Franklin Tapp, a man of 65 years, was found dead in his room at 45 Poplar street Monday morning by his housekeeper. He was lying on the floor, half dressed, with one shoe on and the other in his hand. He had evidently been stricken with death as he reached over to put on his shoe.

The coroner's jury held an inquest over the old man's body, and returned a verdict of "death from natural causes." Coroner Donehoo stated that it was not certain whether death was from heart trouble or from acute Bright's disease.

Mr. Tapp had lived alone for many months at the house. Mrs. Wallace, who kept house for him and furnished him meals, knocked on his door about 7 o'clock, and, receiving no answer, pushed the door open and discovered the body lying in the middle of the floor.

Three sons and one brother survive Mr. Tapp. His brother, W. D. Tapp, lives in Atlanta. The body was removed to P. J. Bloomfield's undertaking establishment, and will be held until his sons are heard from.

GEORGIA BANKERS TO MEET IN MACON

Schedule Is Arranged for the Different Group Meetings.

The 1913 convention of the Georgia Bankers' association will be held in Macon, May 16-17.

The dates were set by the executive council, which met in Macon Monday. At the same time the following schedule of group meeting dates was determined upon:

Group 1—Valdosta, Monday, April 7.
Group 4—Albany, Tuesday, April 8.
Group 5—Macon, Wednesday, April 9.
Group 2—Washington, Thursday, April 10.
Group 3—Marietta, Friday April 11.

A number of prominent speakers are expected to address the state convention. President Woodrow Wilson, who is expected to be in Atlanta May 15 at the National Assembly of Presbyterian churches, is among those who are sought by the Georgia bankers. Charles H. Huttig, president of the American Bankers' assoication, and William J. Burns, head of the protective service of the American Bankers' assoication, are also expected to attend the Macon convention. It is also proposed to have a demonstration of the currency washing machine recently adopted by the United tSates government. Burgess Smith, a former Macon boy, is in charge of the construction of these machines.

An innovation at the twenty-second annual convention will be the plan of having a group dinner the evening before the general convention opens. An orator from each group will address this preliminary meeting.

The association's convention committee is composed of President B. W. Hunt, Vice President L. P. Hillyer, Chairman Frank S. Jones of the executive council, and Secretary Haynes McFadden.

The Macon Clearing House association entertained the visiting bankers at luncheon Monday.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE WINS IN N. Y. LEGISLATURE

Albany, N. Y., January 20.—With but seven dissenting votes, the assembly tonight passed the concurrent resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution permitting women to vote. An amendment requiring women to be naturalized the same as men was defeated.

A similar resolution pending in the senate was amended tonight to provide that "a citizen by marriage shall have been an inhabitant of the United States for five years."

The senate resolution as amended is expected to pass that body, and must go to the assembly for concurrence. This is the form which leaders of the various suffrage organization have declared acceptable, and which democratic leaders say will be passed. The resolution will have to pass the legislature of 1915 before the proposed amendment can be submitted to the voters for approval.

There is a possibility, however, that the present legislature may decide to submit to the voters at the next election a referendum to call a constitutional convention. In that event, the woman suffrage question will be one of the amendments to be considered.

MANNING PIANO COMPANY ANNOUNCE ORGANIZATION

Will Feature the Everett, Melville, Clark, Apollo, H. P. Nelson, Gerhard, Manning and Weiler Pianos and Player Pianos.

At 52 North Pryor street, in one of the most attractive stores in Atlanta, the newly-organized Piano Company is now open for business. H. A. Manning, president, is one of the best known piano merchants of the south.

Conservative, conscientious in business methods, he has builded for himself a name in the piano trade that in itself carries with the new house assured success.

Eugene Wilder, vice president, is widely known in musical circles of Atlanta, a man of broad business experience and well capacitated to assume the duties elected to his position.

William H. Byrd, treasurer, has been closely identified with the piano trade of the south for some twenty years. He has held positions of importance with two well-known piano firms, and this experience, together with the broad acquaintance he enjoys, will prove strong addition to the firm.

Miss Bessie Higgins, confidential secretary to the president, has been with Mr. Manning a number of years and carries the confidence and esteem of all those who happen to have the pleasure of knowing her.

The company will do a general piano trade in the south, featuring especially the Player Piano.

Mr. Manning is very optimistic over the trade for the incoming year. Was very pleased over the sale of an Everett Baby Grand and Player Piano made the first day open.—(adv.)

THAT $100,000,000 ROCKEFELLER GIFT

Articles of Incorporation for the Huge Fund Voted by the House.

Washington, January 20.—Articles of incorporation for the so-called "Rockefeller Foundation," to administer a philanthropic fund of $100,000,000 to be donated by John D. Rockefeller, were passed by the house today, 152 to 65, after desultory opposition. The measure now goes to the senate.

The bill, introduced by Representative Peters, of Massachusetts, names as the incorporators to administer the fund, John D. Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Frederick T. Gates, Starr J. Murphy, Harry Pratt Judson, Simon Flexner, Edwin A. Alderman, Wickliffe Rose and Charles O. Heydt, and such persons as they may associate with themselves.

The object of the foundation is "to promote the well-being and to advance the civilization of the peoples of the United States and its territories and of foreign lands in the dissemination of knowledge, in the prevention and relief of suffering, and in the promotion by elemosynary and philanthropic means of any and all of the elements of human progress."

The bill contains a provision prohibiting the foundation adding to the capital fund of $100,000,000, and forcing the expenditure of the entire income from that fund currently.

ELK OFFICIALS SPEND DAY WITH LOCAL LODGE

Robert W. Brown, chief justice of the grand forum of the grand lodge of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, and John Mitchell, of the St. Paul, Minn., lodge, spent yesterday in Atlanta, visiting the local Elk lodge on official business. Mr. Brown is managing editor of The Louisville Times, president of the Southern Publishers' association, and is prominent in Louisville and throughout the south.

During the day the two officials were royally entertained by Atlanta Elks. They were dined Monday by Albert L. Dunn. They completed their business with the lodge in one day and left the city.

$4 BOOK AND GOOD EDUCATION FOR 98C

Constitution Offers Fine Opportunity for Readers to Improve Their Vocabulary.

Home study has been discussed and advertised extensively during the past few years. Various methods and means have been introduced, but The Constitution believes that the best self-secured education obtainable in the English language and general information upon a most economical basis is offered in the New Modern English Illustrated Dictionary.

The Constitution offers you in one volume, bound between handsome leather covers, a complete education in the English language, an abundant opportunity of increasing your vocabulary, studying simplified spelling, and much other useful information for the six certificates clipped from consecutive issues of this paper and a small bonus.

Of Greatest Value.

Commercially speaking, the purchase of this leather-bound volume means that you are getting $4 for 98 cents, but generally speaking, it is impossible to estimate the value such a course of at-your-elbow education may be to you.

There are three styles of books, but the limp leather volume seems to have the call. The other two books are as good dictionaries in cheaper bindings.

Hundreds of stenographers and clerks have determined to get out of the poorly paid class in which they have been placed by their ignorance and are using the dictionary route. Those who are climbing high each day are using the New Modern English Dictionaries as the stepping stones of their progress.

The Big Little Book is always at the elbow of those anxious and willing to learn. There can be but one result of the awakening of those who, by sloth and misunderstanding, had lost the approval of their employers.

If you doubt the truth of the interest awakened in the dictionary come to the Dictionary Department and be convinced.

JANITORS WAITING FOR THE AX TO FALL

Shearer May Retain His Present Position at a Reduced Salary.

The regiment of city hall janitors, runners, messengers and office boys, on the pay rolls of the various departments to the extent of approximately $4,500 per annum, are waiting for the "ax to fall."

Members of the building and grounds committee are considering a scheme to cut down the salary of the city hall custodian from $1,500 to $1,200. The committee wants J. M. Shearer, the present custodian, to supervise the cleaning in every city department and will probably ask council to abolish private janitorships, messengers and runners.

Custodian Shearer has an eye to another term of two years. He has informed Alderman Arthur Van Dyke, chairman of the building committee, that he will be an applicant for the custodian job, even if the salary is cut to $1,200. He is also willing to assume responsibility for keeping every office in the city hall clean and says that he can do it on his present income.

Says He Is Good Man.

"Shearer is a good, practical man," Councilman D. Knight says. "The city hall needs a man like him to take care of the public buildings."

The committee has concluded that there are too many janitors connected with the various city departments and will make a fight to have them all abolished. The messenger and janitor in Mayor Woodward's office will not be disturbed. He was appointed by Mayor Winn and is paid $35 per month. The mayor has not indicated that he wants the messenger removed. He has hinted that there are too many sentiment jobs floating around the hall and wants the committee to help him trim down the city pay rolls to the tune of $25,000 per annum.

The committee has not decided on the appointment of a city hall custodian. Chairman Van Dyke says he favors allowing Mayor Woodward to make the appointment. There are six applicants for Shearer's pob. One is O. W. Brooks, who is said to have the indorsement of Mayor Woodward. Josh Tye, one of the applicants, withdrew his request.

Councilman Hall wants the salary of the custodian cut down, and he wants more work tacked on the man who lands the job. He says that the custodian in charge of the old city hall did not receive as much as is being paid now, and the old job was heavier.

Shearer's Authority.

The committee discussed the proposition with Shearer at the organization meeting, and asked him to get some data as to what buildings and grounds are under the control of the committee. The city has a number of vacant lots, it is understood, and the committee wants to get straight as to whether it has authority to take charge of them.

Shearer is likely to land again in the job if he can overcome the advantage of some of the others who are after the job. He has the indorsement of the heads of the various city hall departments, and his friends have been active with the mayor in his behalf. Shearer is a practical engineer, and is handy man to supervise electric installation, carpenter work and other repairs.

MACON PETITIONS FOR BETTER DEPOT

Delegation Named to Press Complaint Against Southern Before Commission.

Macon, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—The Macon Chamber of Commerce this afternoon arranged the details of the trip to Atlanta on Thursday, when the petition to compel the Southern railway to give this city improved depot facilities will be heard. A long distance telephone message from Chairman Candler today said that the railroad commission would be ready to hear the complaint.

Attorney W. D. McNeill will represent the chamber of commerce, and he will be assisted by City Attorney A. W. Lane and County Attorney Walter D. Smith. The chamber of commerce has named the following delegation to attend the hearing: A. R. Willingham, J. J. McKay, Dr. F. F. Jones, F. W. Armstrong, E. M. Adams, Dr. W. G. Lee, G. E. Paines, J. A. Flournoy and E. W. Stetson. The members of the city council will probably arrange to be present.

CHIEF BEAVERS MAKES REPLY TO HIS CRITICS

"When I took my stand for enforcement of the law, I anticipated that certain persons would 'have it in' for me, and would lose no opportuntiy to strike at me behind my back," said Chief of Police Beavers yesterday in declaring that his remarks about Sunday baseball had been distorted.

He asserted that J. O. Cochran, president of the park board, had sought to make him appear ridiculous by misrepresenting the conversation concerning children playing on Sunday in the city parks.

"I want it understood," said the chief, "that I will do my fighting in the open. I never have yet, and never will, reach the point where I'll dodge behind a tree and ambush a man I intend to attack.

"I was confident that efforts would be made to trap me and place me in a wrong light before the public, with a hope of prejudicing the people. I want it thoroughly understood, though, that no plots or scheming of tricky politicians will ever swerve me from my path of duty."

MADDOX AT PEACE WITH JOHN JENTZEN

Alderman and Sanitary Chief Are Reconciled on "Dirt" Ordinance.

Alderman James Maddox, of the fifth ward, and Sanitary Chief John Jentzen are reconciled on the "dirt-spilling" ordinance.

Chief Jentzen notified the alderman to clean up Poplar street and other thoroughfares in the center of the city over which mud hauled from the Healy building was spilled, and bright and early a squad of men were at work flushing Poplar street with a lead of hose. Alderman Maddox superintended the job. He said the sanitary department would not have to make a second request on him to clean up any street.

Willing to Clean Up.

"I realize that it is disagreeable to have complaints made about the condition of the streets, and I am ready and willing at any time to clean up when the sanitary department orders me," Alderman Maddox said. "This work is costing me a whole lot of money, but if conditions can be relieved—why, I am willing to spend it."

Alderman Maddox has the contract for excavating at the Healy building, opposite the postoffice. He has been at work on the job several weeks, and has been inconvenienced by the weather. He declared Monday that he had never had any intention of antagonizing the sanitary department.

Chief Jentzen says that there will be no more conflicts between Alderman Maddox and himself.

"If I can help the alderman out in any way, I'll be only too glad to do so," he said, "and I am sure he will do everything to lessen the burden on this department."

Repealed the Ordinance.

Recently friends of Alderman Maddox had the dirt ordinance repealed. They contended that the ordinance was a hardship on hauling contractors, and that it delayed work in the center of the city

Alderman Maddox consented to having the old ordinance restored to give the sanitary department authority to regulate. He says that he will clean up streets whenever he has a request from Chief Jentzen.

Poplar street was the cleanest thoroughfare in Atlanta when Alderman Maddox "knocked" off his force of scrubbers.

PROFESSIONAL "DIPS" ARE BUSY IN ATLANTA

As a result of the invasion of a "mob" of profesisonal "dips," four cases of pocket-picking were reported to the police Saturday. Each case occurred upon a trolley car, and the victims was "frisked" by the metropolitan method of "mobbing" the victim.

Accused of leading the band of pickpockets, J. E. Jackson, a 22-year-old youth, of Kansas City, was arraigned before Recorder Broyles Monday. He was identified by Walter Knight, a jailer at the Tower, as a man who had fingered a wallet from the pocket of James McGriff as McGriff and Knight started to board a Marietta street car near the Bijou.

Jackson was bound over under $500 bond on a charge of larceny from the person. He denied the charges, and declared that he was in Atlanta on business for a farm periodical with which he was employed.

The four victims of the nimble-fingered squad were J. W. Lawton, of the Western Union, who was robbed of $300 on a Decatur stret car; M. Frost, of the Tripod Paint company, who lost $113 on a Whitehall street to West End car; R. M. Thompson, of Stone Mountain, who was robbed of $113 on a Decatur car, and McGriff, who had a wallet taken from him containing $1.65.

TO SENTENCE BROTHERS ON VERDICT OF 1910

Moultrie, Ga., January 20.—(Special.) A case without precedent in Georgia jurisprudence, and with few parallels in American legal procedure, comes up this week in superior court, when two brothers will be sentenced on a verdict more than two years old, and their attorneys take out habeas corpus under the federal statutes to save them from imprisonment.

B. L. and C. C. Register were convicted of involuntary manslaughter in April, 1910, after being indicted for the murder of J. P. Bryant. Judge Thomas refused to accept the verdict, saying that he had not charged the jury on that phase. A verdict of voluntary manslaughter was then returned, this being made the basis for appeal.

Since that time the case has been fought through the court of appeals, a new trial, back to the higher court, when a plea of former jeopardy was overruled, and now to the regular court again for the passing of sentence, unless the habeas corpus proceedings give it a new turn and a new delay.

Court will be in session two weeks, and will dispose of a large civil docket and a number of criminal cases. Judge W. E. Thomas will preside.

CAUGHT IN MOTORCYCLE, BOY IS FATALLY HURT

Macon, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—Five-year-old Joe Merritt, son of B. Frank Merritt, was probably fatally injured when struck by a motorcycle ridden by A. L. Dent, a 19-year-old boy.

The accident happened at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The boy was crossing the street when the speeding machine bore down upon him, catching his clothing in the gearing and dragging him for a considerable distance before the rider lost control of his machine and it collided with a telephone pole.

The Merritt boy's skull was fractured and, at a late hour tonight, he had not regained consciousness at the hospital. Dent, who is the son of Policeman Dent, was arrested, but later released on order of Mayor Moore.

Judge Wingfield Ill.

Athens, Ga., January 20.—(Special.) Judge S. B. Wingfield, Sr., for many years ordinary of this county, is extremely ill at his home here, and his death is expected at any time. He is over 70 years of age and has been in feeble health for some months. He has several sons and daughters, many grandchildren and quite a number of great-grandchildren.

CAREFUL PREPARATIONS MADE TO SHOOT HIMSELF

Lawrenceville, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—Careful preparations marked the suicide of Jim Boss, 60 years old, Saturday night at his home in Loganville. He rested his shotgun on a box, and seated himself in a rocking chair. This left the gun too low down, so he secured a stick of wood to prop it up.

Death was instantaneous, as the heavy load of shot entered the heart.

Despondency over continued ill health is assigned by his family as the cause. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon at Bay Creek church. He was unmarried and is survived by a sister, Mrs. B. L. Patterson, of Lawrenceville.

THE FIFTH SHOULD GO.

It is a relatively small amount that Atlanta is asked to contribute in order that the city may be represented at the inauguration of Wilson by the Fifth regiment of the National Guard of Georgia. The civic reputation and, to an extent, the business enterprise of the community will sustain injury unless the city is so represented. Subscriptions from every element of the population should be forthcoming without delay.

The martial pageant at this particular inauguration will be one of the most notable since the civil war. Military organizations from every section of the country will participate. They will be especially numerous from the south. The people of Atlanta should be unwilling to let go by default the opportunity of having this city represented upon so historical an occasion.

It is wholly unlike Atlanta to permit an appeal of this broadly civic nature to fall on deaf ears. Response should be immediate and generous if preliminaries are to be arranged in time for this city to make a showing in proportion to its reputation and its prestige.

TAFT AND SUCCESS.

"I don't seem to be a grand success," was the admission of President Taft in his recent address to the B'nai B'rith in New York city, discussing his achievements from a political standpoint.

Mr. Taft has not been a success as a politician. As a man, he has been a complete success. As a statesman, disregarding party lines, he has wrought admirably. And as an American, jealous alike for the rights and the opinions of every section of the country, he will be not unknown to fame.

Had he compromised with his conceptions of duty, however much at variance with national sentiment those conceptions might have been, his chances for re-election to the presidency would have been materially increased. He chose, instead, to pursue what to him seemed an honest, straightforward, patriotic course.

That is why, crushingly defeated at the polls, he retires to private life with the respect and affection of the overwhelming majority of people in this country.

WOMEN WHO FALL.

The world today studies the social evil with more intelligence and courage than at any period in its history. Topics once thought only suitable for the clinic or the medical journal are being brought from their obscurity and their vital relation to the public welfare forced on public attention. One of the latest and most hopeful symptoms is the banding of a group of eastern philanthropists, as reported in The Constitution, to establish a chain of 2,000 homes throughout America for fallen women.

It is pointed out that already institutions of this nature are available in many cities. But the need is out of all proportion to their number, and as government, states and cities wax more aggressive in their anti-vice campaigns it will become increasingly difficult to take care of the victims who, in every case, offer bewildering problems.

Providing refuge and offering rehabilitation to women driven by sumptuary statute out of the "world's oldest profession" is an excellent and constructive beneficence. Its prudent development can have no other than a modifying effect upon the big questions involved, since there is little doubt that many of these pitiable creatures would abandon lives of shame if shown an avenue of escape with ultimate hope of effacing the past and the omnipresent and galling ostracism.

But if the evil which this philanthropy seeks to reach is to be exterminated body and branch, methods more fundamental must be invoked. Education, patient, candid but discreet, is the chief weapon. As long as immature boys and girls go uninstructed as to the dangers of the "primrose path" the underworld will continue to receive its brigades of recruits. As long as men fail to recognize that the life of even the humblest woman is a precious thing, and not a bauble to be sacrificed on the altar of lust, we shall make little progress in combatting the social evil. This variety of human frailty has been with us since the dawn of creation. Fiat measures may restrict or discourage it. But those seeking a permanent cure must set diligently to work to remodel the entire attitude of society and of its individual members. That statement may sound pessimistic, but it is better to face the truth. In that course lies the only hope of stable reformation.

HANDS ACROSS THE "MOVIE"

A new possibility in the promotion not only of geographical knowledge, but also of international amity, is suggested by the following extract from The Buffalo (N. Y.) Enquirer:

Eleven thousand miles of motion picture films—enough, according to the official report, to reach from New York to Manila—were reported last year. They will help make the nations acquainted with the United States, the largest producer of films in the world.

We used to talk of "hands across the sea" as signifying that cordiality of relation so desirable between nations, and which was to be promoted by sending our vessels around the globe and by other less spectacular and expensive methods. The newer formula might read, "hands across the movie."

The films that went abroad in the enormous quantity recorded in the foregoing extract represented almost every conceivable aspect of life in America. With negligible exceptions, or where censorship was not active, only the better and more representative phases of this country were portrayed. We hope that in the batch there was liberal representation of scenes from the south, such as those of the Boys' Corn Clubs' parade and the peace monument celebration in Atlanta. For the rest, street scenes in the liver American cities, and the scenic and agricultural wonders of the west and the south should make up a tolerably attractive bill of fare for foreign consumption.

The improvement of facilities for transportation and communication have done much to give the nations a more intelligent understanding of each other, and it is likely that the motion picture film will substantially accelerate that process. Nothing catches the visible psychology of a people so quickly and accurately as the camera, and the fac-simile of life it throws on the screen is the nearest imitation of personal introduction aside from the actual process itself.

The "movies" have, then, their practical as well as their recreation uses. That is the more reason why the films that leave this country should be carefully supervised, to the end of insuring that they shall not give to that portion of the world unable to make its own corrections false or unjust ideas of America.

SPEED A SETTLEMENT.

Death and disease do not wait while partisans exchange epithets. Irrespective of the merits of the crematory controversy, summer is approaching, and with it a quickening of the mortality rate unless arrangement is made for garbage disposal other than by dumping it at random in and around Atlanta.

The people of Atlanta demand action. They have waited long and patiently for an adjustment of this dispute which touches life and death. They are interested not one-tenth so much in the personal political fortunes of politicians as in the safeguarding of the community's health.

No obstacle should be put in the pathway of a solution of the crematory problem. Let differences of opinion be threshed out with a minimum of delay. The issue is one that infinitely transcends partisanship. In its adjudication, as in that of any other issue involving the city's moral obligation, council should commit itself to no step that does not protect Atlanta's honor.

They've honored the Indian by putting him on the new nickel. If he wants further evidence as to how he is appreciated let him ask the government for a bushel of 'em.

Castro says there is no freedom in this country. That's hot air. He has never heard two candidates for president pay their respects to each other on the stump.

Colonel George Bailey says that there are statesmen in Texas. If so, they should rise from the lowgrounds and give the photographers a chance.

Uncle Joe Cannon will be complimented with a "Goodby Dinner." That is, they will eat him out of his political house and home.

An actress says a kiss should last five minutes. That would give the photographer time to arrive and photograph it as evidence for the lady's lawyers.

The New Year resolution for good roads shouldn't weaken when it comes to the working point.

Whatever the optimists say, there never was an instance where the lion laid down with the lamb and arose hungry.

No matter how the plumtree shakes in the wind they just won't stand from under.

Here's hoping for a sane 4th of March.

Character Cameos

By Robert V. Carr

Do you know anyone like this?

Imaginary Person No. 78.—Married woman. Age 37. Brunette. Complexion sallow. Eyes large and with little creases of worry and fussiness at corners. No children. Husband indulgent. She is forever sampling some patent medicine. Believes that she is doomed to pass away most any time. Nibbles at canary-bird breakfast and complains to husband about her aches and pains. However, after husband departs, she will gorge herself on pickles and cheese and anything that she can find that is particularly hard to digest. Then she will seek her couch, eat a pound of candy and send for the doctor. Seldom takes any exercise, loathes cold water and cannot bear to have a window open. Reads trashy novels of the eternal triangle variety. Believes that the world has treated her very shabbily, and frequently tells her husband, "You will not be annoyed with me after the sod is placed over me."

Comment.—In the first place No. 78 is really sick—sick mentally. And the reason that she is sick mentally is because she hasn't enough common sense to see her own faults and correct them. As a matter of fact, she is a strong, hardy creature, or she would have perished long ago under the treatment she has accorded herself. She should fight against the moan and the dope, sleep with her windows open, get up early, take a cold bath and a brisk walk, breathe deeply, forget her alleged troubles and acquire a love for fresh air, sunshine, laughter and optimism. As it is, she is a disagreeable creature, who is a positive burden to a patient man.

Georgia Never Had Republican Senator

By SAM W. SMALL

Wouldn't it chill your political marrow a whole lot to see the Georgia legislature, almost unanimously democratic, get together and coolly and unanimously elect a twenty-four karat stand-pat republican to the United States senate?

I should reckon so!

Yet that is what, with a reverse English, the Oregon legislature is going to do next week. It is quite as unanimously republican as our legislature is democratic, but without a kick or the turning of a hair those republicans will vote that Dr. Harry Lane, of Portland, shall be a United States senator for Oregon for six years after March 4, in succession to Jonathan Bourne, Jr.

That will give Oregon democrats as both her senators, Senator Chamberlain, a native of Mississippi, being the senior senator.

Also, as you know, the republican state of Oregon has a dandy democratic governor in the person of Oswald West.

Oregon has sorter acquired the habit of going democratic on the governorship, and accidentally any way for president. This last time she went for Woodrow Wilson.

The popular primary accounts for the senatorship arrangement. Four years ago Governor Chamberlain won the senatorial primary, although President Taft carried the state by a plurality of nearly 25,000. In the recent election Dr. Lane won the primary, and will be elected by political opponents pledged in advance to elect the popular high man.

The new senator-to-be is a stalwart democrat, orthodox to the core of his faith, but full of the ginger of modern progressivism of the Wilsonian variety. He is the son of old General Joseph Lane, who, in little more than a year after Oregon was admitted to the union, was nominated by the anti-Douglas democratic convention, in Baltimore, in 1860, for vice president, with Breckenridge for president.

Somewhere among my souvenirs I still have one of the Breckenridge and Lane medals that my father proudly wore in that ever-memorable campaign.

But, speaking of the impossible event of a Georgia democratic legislature electing a republican to the United States senate suggests to me a fact that is unique and not very generally remembered in this day.

Georgia is the only state in the union that has never had a republican as her representative in the United States senate—barring, of course, the recently admitted states of Oklahoma and Arizona, with their first sets of democratic senators.

During the malodorous "reconstruction" era all of our southern states except Georgia were saddled with republican senators. We had then such as Parson Brownlow of Tennessee, Chamberlin of South Carolina, Conover of Florida, Spencer of Alabama, Alcorn of Mississippi, Clayton of Arkansas, Kellogg of Louisiana and Hamilton of Texas; and since then a Mahone from Virginia, Bradley from Kentucky, Pritchard from North Carolina—and among the carpetbag-scalawag-piebald outfit were the mulatto Pinchback of Louisiana and the Stygian-hued Bruce of Mississippi.

When President Johnson called upon us in 1866 to restore the state and her representation in the congress at Washington, the legislature elected Alexander H. Stephens and Herschel V. Johnson, both of revered memory, to be United States senators and reoccupy the seats that Robert Toombs and Alfred Iverson vacated in 1861. But old Thad Stevens and his pals, in the rump congress, would not let our senators be admitted.

A new reconstruction deal was ordered under military dictation, but the legislature chosen under it in 1868 was democratic all right, and elected H. V. M. Miller and Joshua Hill to the United States senate. They were admitted, Miller to serve in the seat of Toombs until March 4, 1871, and Hill to sit where Iverson sat until March 4, 1873. Then Norwood succeeded Miller and Gordon replaced Hill. Now Bacon sits in the Toombs succession and Smith in that of Iverson.

And, say, don't you know it will be an ever-joyful reflection that our noble old commonwealth never sullied those seats with alien occupants?

On Robert Burns.

"What bird in beauty, flight, or song,
Can with the bard compare,
Who sang as sweet, and soar'd as strong
As ever child of air?

"He was the wren amidst the grove,
When in his homely vein;
At Bannockburn, the bird of Jove,
With thunder in his train.

"The woodlark, in his mournful hours;
The goldfinch in his mirth;
The thrush, a spendthrift of his powers,
Enrapturing heaven and earth.

"The linnit in simplicity;
In tenderness the dove;
But, more than all beside, was he
The nightingale, in love.

"Peace to the dead! In Scotia's choir
Of minstrels, great and small,
He sprang from his spontaneous fire,
The Phoenix of them all!"

The World's Mysteries

MYSTERIES of ANTIQUITY

WHAT WAS THE GREEK FIRE?

The composition of the Greek fire used by the ancients has been a subject of much controversy, and, while it has been pretty generally settled as to what constituted it, yet it is still a discussed question as to all the ingredients it contained.

The name Greek fire was applied to the inflammable and destructive compositions which were used in warfare about the Middle Ages, and especially by the Byzantine Greeks at the siege of Constantinople. Lieutenant Colonel Hime, after a close examination of the available evidence, concludes that what distinguished Greek fire from the other fires used at this period was the presence of quicklime, which was well known to give rise to a large development of heat when brought into contact with water. The mixture, then, was composed of such materials as sulphur and naphtha with quicklime, and took fire spontaneously when moistened—whence the name of wet fire or sea fire.

The important secret of compounding and directing this artificial flame was imparted in the latter part of the seventh century to the Greeks, or Byzantines, at Constantinople by Callinicus, a native of Heliopolis, in Syria, who deserted from the service of the caliph to that of the emperor. The skill of a chemist and engineer was equivalent to the succor of the fleets and armies, and this discovery or improvement of the military art was fortunately reserved for the distressful period when the degenerate Romans of the east were incapable of contending with the warlike enthusiasm and youthful vigor of the Saracens.

The historian who presumes to analyze this extraordinary composition should suspect his own ignorance and that of his Byzantine guides, so prone to the marvelous, so careless, and, in this instance, so jealous of the truth. From their obscure, and perhaps fallacious hints, it should seem that the principal ingredient of the Greek fire was the naphtha, or liquid bitumen, a light tenacious and inflammable oil, which springs from the earth. The naphtha was mingled with sulphur or with the pitch that is extracted from evergreen firs.

From this mixture, which produced a thick smoke and a loud explosion, proceeded a fierce and obstinate flame. Instead of being extinguished, it was nourished and quickened by the element of water; and sand urine, or vinegar, were the only remedies that could damp the fury of this powerful agent. It was either poured from the ramparts (of a besieged town) in large boilers, or launched in red hot balls of stone and iron, or darted in arrows and javelins, twisted round with flax and tow, which had deeply imbibed the inflammable oil. Sometimes it was deposited in fireships, and was most commonly emitted through long tubes of copper, which were planted on the prow of a galley, and fancifully shaped into the mouths of savage monsters, that seemed to vomit a stream of liquid and consuming fire.

The important art was preserved at Constantinople, as the palladium of the state. The secret was confined about 400 years to the Romans of the east. It was at length either discovered or stolen by the Mohammedans, and in the holy wars of Syria and Egypt they retorted an invention, contrived against themselves, on the heads of the Christians. The use of the Greek, or, as it might now be called, the Saracen fire, was continued to the middle of the fourteenth century.

New News of Yesterday

The Man Who Willed to Become a Centenarian.

By E. J. Edwards.

(Copyrighted, 1913, for The Constitution.)

This daily series of anecdotes and incidents that throw new, interesting and frequently dramatic light on famous events and personalities of the past have been collected by Mr. Edwards during nearly forty years of more or less intimate acquaintance with many of the country's leaders since the civil war. Each anecdote or incident is fresh from Mr. Edwards' notebook, and, either in whole or in part, it constitutes NEW NEWS OF YESTERDAY, garnered from the men who made the news—the history—or from equally authoritative sources. As important contributions of the "human interest" sort to American history, these articles have a distinctive value all their own.

Recently some discussion has been aroused by the assertion of a medical authority that there is in all probability no well authenticated case of a person who has lived to become a hundred years of age.

E. J. Edwards.

The discussion reminded me of the dramatic and impressive celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of George L. Perkins, who was all his life a citizen of Norwich, Conn.

At the time of the civil war a friend of Mr. Perkins gave to him a photograph of the Rev. Daniel Waldo, who was one of the last of the survivors of the revolutionary war. The photograph was taken when Dr. Waldo was in his hundred and first year, and the records of the war department were absolute proof of the accuracy of his claim as a centenarian.

Mr. Perkins at that time was 76 years of age. He said to a friend, "I, too, shall live to be a hundred, and there will be no question about the date of my birth, since it is a matter of absolute record."

The centenary of Mr. Perkins' birth occurred in August, 1888. The late William D. Bishop, at one time president of the New York and New Haven railroad; the late John M. Forbes, of Boston, who was the promoter of the original Burlington railroad system, and other prominent railroad managers of the United States determined to celebrate appropriately not only the centenary of Mr. Perkins' birth, but also the fact that he had been throughout his entire active life an executive officer of one of the first railways built in the United States—the Norwich and Worcester. His entire business life was contemporaneous with the beginning and development of railways in this country up to 1888.

Arrangements were made for the centennial celebration at Mr. Perkins' home at Norwich. I had seen him a few years earlier, when he was past ninety years of age. He was then perfectly erect, walked with a strong and steady step, his complexion was fair, his eyes were bright and his mind seemed to be as vigorous as it ever had been. He was absolutely certain that he would live to be past a hundred years. During the last five years of his life his powers of will seemed to be concentrated upon the purpose to remain on earth until he was past a hundred.

It was a great company of distinguished railway managers—of most of whom he could have been the father or grandfather, and yet all were either in middle life or past it—that met him upon that centennial birthday occasion. He was spry, active and seemed to rejoice in the fact that he had lived to celebrate his hundredth birthday.

A month later Mr. Perkins was dead. He simply passed away; there was no illness nor any suffering. He closed his eyes and went beyond the line.

One of the railway managers who was present at the birthday celebration and who was intimate with Mr. Perkins' family, said to me shortly after Mr. Perkins' death: "What happened to Mr. Perkins was simply this—he had lived for twenty-five years confident in the belief that his will power would extend his life to his hundredth anniversary. When that anniversary was reached and the celebration was ended Mr. Perkins simply allowed his will to relax. In other words, he let go. And he went on beyond as peacefully and as quietly as a child goes to sleep in his cradle."

The Technicality

By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

(Copyrighted, 1913, for The Constitution.)

The technicality is a microbe that has gotten into justice and has given it blind staggers.

A technicality is about the same size as any other microbe—so small that it takes an expert to see it. And it can do as much damage as a pneumonia microbe which comes into the human system in a quiet, unostentatious manner and has set up housekeeping and raised seven generations before the doctor can be called.

A technicality, the size of a comma, can get into a perfectly good law case in which the state has seventeen witnesses to prove that the defendant maliciously, feloniously, atrociously, and malignantly shot a dog, and can kill that case deader than the dog. It can elbow its way into a court which is laboriously trying to prove that a man who has confessed to burning an orphan asylum is telling the truth and can send the defendant forth free because the indictment has spelled his name wrong. It can creep stealthily into the proceedings in which a citizen is trying to get $1,000 from a railroad company for the use of his leg which was cut off and removed without his consent by a train, and can send the case staggering from court to court until by the time the supreme court has sent it back to be begun all over again the man's descendants are busted and the witnesses are dead.

We are spending a lot of time in this country trying to get milk without microbes, pork without trachinae, and strawberry jam without clover seed, but what we need more than all these things are law cases without technicalities in them. A law case free from technicalities is a lovely and useful affair, and can swat a villain in twenty-four hours. But the minute a case gets technicalities justice utters a low shriek and proceeds to have convulsions. America produces about 8,000 murders a year, and most of these are protected on their gory journey through life by the technicality which meets them at the courthouse door and whispers: "Do not worry; I will take care of you. The state's attorney has used a wrong font comma in the indictment."

"The state's attorney has used a wrong font comma in the indictment."

What we need is a new brand of laws which will take the technicality by the neck and heave it far, far from the courtroom into the unsavory past. When this is done we will not have to use one lawyer to try an assault and battery case and nine others to keep the technicalities out of it.

BUSINESS HURT BY POLICE RAID

McFarland Asks Discharge of Five Policemen.

"Forced Way Into Woman's Room Before She Dressed and Were Insulting to Her.

Charging that the recent action of the police in entering Room 15 of the Henderson hotel and intruding upon a husband and wife had lost him much patronage and would probably result in bankruptcy, B. F. McFarland, proprietor of the Henderson, this morning will file charges with the police board against five plain clothes policemen, asking their discharge.

In his report to the police committee of council, which Monday passed upon the rooming houses of the city, Chief Beavers reported the Henderson as a sanitary, moral hotel that complied wit hthe police and other regulations. The place was granted a license by the committee.

Officers Are Attacked.

The following is the gist of the charges to be filed by Attorneys Carl Hutheson and Thomas B. Felder for Mr. McFarland:

"To the Chairman of the Police Committee: Now comes B. F. McFarland, who, being duly sworn, deposes and complains against G. C. Fain, S. E. Arrowood, G. F. Whelchel, C. G. Williams and James E. McDaniel for following reasons:

"On January 17, at 9:30 o'clock, O. P. Veal, night clerk at deponent's hotel, called deponent from his bed and said: 'The officers want to see you in room 15.' Deponent went to room 15 and found three policemen standing in hall near the door of room 15. Deponent asked the policemen if they knew the occupants of the room.

"'No! But we will,' one of the three policemen answered.

Woman Only Partially Dressed.

"Deponent went to Room 15 and knocked. The door was locked. Deponent told the lady within that the officers were present and wanted to see the room's occupants, Mrs. W. J. Ray, her husband and child. She said wait until she could dress. The police demanded immediate entrance. Before she could dress entirely and could unlock the door, the policemen pushed in and filed into the room. She was only partially dressed. Mrs. Ray said her husband and child were entirely undressed, and were in bed. The police declined to tell why they wanted to see Mr. Ray and his wife, but insisted upon being admitted to their room. They used ungentlemanly language before Mrs. Ray and were insulting.

"Such action was uncalled for and indecent. Said officers went into said room for the purpose of making the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Ray, basing the intended arrest upon charges of immoral conduct, but upon learning that Mr. and Mrs. Ray were man and wife, they departed. Said officers also entered deponent's hotel with the intention of arresting the deponent for the alleged running of a hotel for immoral conduct, and upon learning their mistake, departed without making the charges.

Injured Hotel Business.

"Said officers, by entering deponent's hotel without warrants for either the deponent or Mr. and Mrs. Ray, thereby made an illegal and unwarranted entrance, and said action upon the part of said officers, without the law, either in letter or spirit, deserves the censure of the honorable board and the public as a whole. The officers had no reason or cause to suspect that said occupants of said room were there for immoral purposes, nor did they have reason to believe that the deponent was running a hotel for immoral purposes, as their investigation was not such to warrant in going to said hotel and said room. Therefore, said action was unfounded, and the only provocation upon which they entered said hotel was from the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Ray went into said hotel together.

"The deponent has invested $5,000 into said hotel, and has been conducting it for twelve months, and prior to the raid had been investigated by Detective Hollingsworth, who reported most favorably upon the manner in which said hotel was being run. The raid has cost said hotel an alarming decrease in patronage, and likely will result in the bankruptcy of the deponent. Deponent asks the honorable board to impeach and discharge the five policemen named in the charges."

STATE FILES DEMURRER TO SEABOARD PETITION

By James K. Hines, its special attorney, the Georgia railroad commission yesterday filed with John Dean Steward, deputy clerk of the United States court, a demurrer to an injunction against that body by the Seaboard Air Line railway lodged in the federal court recently.

August 1, 1912, the Georgia railroad commission directed the Seaboard Air Line to make connection between its tracks and the Lawrenceville branch at Lawrenceville. Later the Seaboard filed with the Georgia railroad commission blue prints and estimates of the cost of the work. This was followed by an order from the Georgia railroad commission to proceed with the work, the cost to be equally divided between the Seaboard and the Lawrenceville branch. Last week the Seaboard asked Judge Newman to restrain the Georgia railroad commission from enforcing its orders.

In the demurrer to that petition Judge Hines sets out that the Seaboard has adequate remedy at law and can defend against any suit brought against it for recovery of penalty provided for in section 2667 of the Georgia code by showing the order of the railroad commission void, if it is void, as the Seaboard's bill claims it is; also because the Seaboard's bill does not show any suit brought by the governor of the state and because the state railroad commission cannot institute a suit of the kind; also that a suit of that kind must be made by directions of the governor, and that J. K. Hines, special attorney to the railroad commission, cannot be made a party to such suits.

FREIGHT ASSOCIATIONS IN SESSION AT AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., January 20.—(Special.) Traffic officials of the fifty most prominent southern railroads are attending the joint convention of the Southeastern Freight association and the Southeastern Mississippi Valley association, which opened at the Hampton Terrace hotel here this morning.

There are 150 officials present, ranging in rank from president to general freight agents.

The convention will adjourn tomorrow night, but the officials will remain over until the day following, to take part in the celebration of a great hydro-electric power development above Augusta, on the Savannah river.

Matters of a routine nature only were discussed having to do with freight tariff revisions or rulings of the interstate commerce commission affecting the joint rates between the railroads, which are of no interest to the general public.

No changes in the present base of rates were mentioned, nor will it be, according to the officials.

YOUNG GIRL IS DEAD; BURNED SWEEPING ASHES

Rome, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—As the result of burns received last Thursday, Miss Mattie Stoddard, 17 years old, died Sunday at the home of her uncle. The funeral and interment took place today. Miss Stoddard's dress was ignited when she stooped over in front of the fire, taking up ashes from a grate.

"CAP" JOYNER IS PROBING SOME SUSPICIOUS FIRES

W. R. Joyner, ex-mayor and former fire chief of Atlanta, who recently was elected to the office of state fire inspector, has returned from a trip to Albany and Vienna, where he has been investigating the origin of suspicious conflagrations. The nvestigation still is in progress. Captain Joyner's staff is also looking into a mysterious fire that recently occurred in Atlanta, and which is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

EIGHT COMRADES SHOT BY INSANE CORPORAL

Vienna, January 20.—A corporal in the Austro-Hungarian army, during an attack of madness today, shot down and killed five of his comrades of the Eighteenth infantry, and fatally wounded three others, at Nevesinje, Herzegovina. The corporal set fire to the barracks; then his career was stopped by a bullet from a sentry's gun

PRISONER KILLED BY NEGRO CONVICT

Government Official Investigates Mysterious Death in South Atlanta.

Official investigation of the sudden death of an aged prisoner in the federal penitentiary near Atlanta Tuesday last, has been completed by a representative of the department of justice, who reached Atlanta Thursday.

The report—it was in the attorney general's office in Washington this morning when he opened his desk—told that the death was brought about by a blow struck by a fellow-convict, and that the convict who struck the blow was now in the detention section of the Atlanta natfonal prison, and that the killing would be given a thorough and complete investigation by the next federal grand jury.

Warden Moyer declines to reveal the name of the dead convict or the name of the convict who brought about the tragedy. Neither would the personal representative of the attorney general give out either name, he declaring that it would be a violation of the rules of the department to discuss the matter in any way. The department of justice representative would not deny that the dead man had been sent to the federal prison from the federal courts in New Jersey, and that he was an old-time offender.

The official inquiry developed that the old-time prisoner had been struck in the face by a negro prisoner sent up from Kansas. There had been bad feeling between the white man from New Jersey and the negro from Kansas for some time. When the killing happened they were working together in the kitchen in the midst of a dozen or more fellow-prisoners. The fall of the white convict on the cement floor that first apprised those about of any trouble.

The penitentiary being outside of the city, a certificate from the Atlanta board of health was not necessary, and the penitentiary being on federal government grounds, the inquiry into the death will be made by a federal grand jury yet to be organized by Judge Newman.

UNIVERSITY CLUB WILL CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

The University club, which now numbers 368 members, of which 212 are living in Atlanta, will hold a gala celebration from 4:30 until 6:30 o'clock this afternoon in honor of its second birthday. The club was incorporated on July 5, 1910, through the activities of Thomas W. Connally and a few other graduates of the universities and colleges living here, and two years ago today acquired a home of its own.

Its members date their beginning from the time they moved into a house and thus became a unit among Atlanta's many clubs, of which it has always occupied a high stand socially, and possibly the first from an intellectual viewpoint. Special booklets giving interesting data about what the club has accomplished, what famous people it has entertained and a full list of its membership have been issued in honor of the birthday.

AD MEN WILL DISCUSS FORMS OF ADVERTISING

The Ad Men's club of Atlanta will hold their regular weekly luncheon today in the breakfast room of the Kimball house, second floor, at 1 o'clock sharp. The subject for discusion will be:

"Resolved, That National Advertising Is More Beneficial When Used in Daily Newspapers Than in Magazines."

There will be two good speakers on each side, and open discussion afterwards. These luncheons last only one hour, and a large crowd is expected.

INTERSTATE CASUALTY INCREASES ITS STOCK

The Interstate Casualty company, of Birmingham, has increased its capital stock to $300,000 and its net surplus to $150,000, giving a surplus to policyholders over all liabilities of $450,000, with total assets of more than $620,000.

The company is represented in the agency of Spratlin, Harrington & Thomas, who have recently increased their office space on account of the growth of business, this agency writing liability, automobile, fire, accident and health, plate glass, burglary and life insurance.

BETTER KEEP SOBER UNTIL ALL STREETS ARE PAVED

J. S. Tiller, a 20-year-old youth, walking unsteadily, crossed Broad street, at the junction of Alabama, Saturday night.

When he perceived the deep hole on the northeast corner that had been made in excavating for new pavement, he stopped aghast at the thought of a laden trolley car plunging into this abyss.

The headlight of an oncoming car shot across the viaduct. In a moment the car would plunge over the abyss and hurl its tons of human beings to death. Tiller could not bear the thought.

An idea flashed through his brain. It was inspired by a red lantern that glowed upon a heap of dirt beside the excavation and warned traffic away from the hole. Tiller grabbed the light and waved it in a wild semicircle. The car stopped at the edge of the precipice.

The motorman got down to investigate the trouble, heard Tiller's breathless explanation, and then called Policeman Born. Born carried Tiller to police headquarters and the trolley car proceeded.

Recorder Broyles Monday afternoon commended Tiller for his attitude toward public safety, but fined him $10.75 for drunkenness.

LOUIS MAGID'S TRIAL POSTPONED FOR DAY

F. A. McVay, formerly a secretary in Louis B. Magid's office, and the man who is regarded as the principal witness in the perjury charges against the Atlanta capitalist, is believed to be in Birmingham. He was not present when the case was called for trial yesterday in the criminal division of the superior court, and as Judge L. S. Roan expected to change duties with Judge Daniel, of the Griffin circuit, and did not want to take up a case that would consume more than one day, the case was postponed until this morning.

In the meantime, Judge Roan has learned that the cases in the Griffin circuit for which Judge Daniel was disqualified on account of a technicality, have been postponed, and it will not be necessary for the two judges to exchange benches.

The Magid case will be called this morning, but whether the state will be able to go to trial without the missing witness is a matter of doubt. Neither Charles T. Hopkins, assisting Solicitor Dorsey in the trial, nor J. J. Spalding, an attorney for the Georgia Railway and Power company, know of the whereabouts of McVay, according to their statements last night. Mr. Hopkins stated, however, that he expected McVay to appear when the case is called this morning. Mr. Magid was indicted last fall on charges preferred by McVay, who claimed false swearing in the Magid injunction suit against the merger which recently took place by which the present power company was organized.

MORE RAIN FOR TODAY PROMISED TO ATLANTA

The weather man sees a cold spell of weather in prospect, which will be preceded by more rain early today. The conditions west of here are apparently ripe for a much colder spell than the bureau predicts, according to the forecasters' own admission, but there is a strong likelihood that this "cold wave" will get sidetracked, as many others have done this winter, and that only a change of 10 or 12 degrees will be found.

By tonight the mercury is expected to be at about 48 degrees and the cool weather will be accompanied by clearing skies, so that like a kaleidoscope, the weather conditions will shift from rain back to the fair weather of Sunday.

CIRCUS MANAGER CALLED IN BIBB ELECTION PROBE

Macon, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—Peter Sun, one of the proprietors of Sun Brothers' circus, was this afternoon summoned to appear before the Bibb grand jury tomorrow.

His examination will be in connection with the rumor given circulation directly after the August primary that a "prominent official" had voted "ringers" in the places of about forty circus employees who were absent from the city with their show at the time.

So far no others have been summoned in this connection, but it is expected that there may be.

STRIKER ARRESTED FOR HURLED BRICK

Street Railway Inspector Badly Injured and Striking Electrician Is Held.

Macon, Ga., January 20.—(Special.—J. L. Carver, one of the thirty striking electricians formerly employed by the Macon Railway and Light company, was jailed here today for an alleged assault on Roy E. Cook, one of the office men for the company, acting as temporary inspector during the strike. Carver is also charged with resisting the deputy sheriffs when they placed him under arrest.

Cook was inspecting some work, standing on a small balcony at the rear of a garage, when someone hurled a brick and struck him on the face, knocking him loose from his footing and hurling him to the ground, a distance of twenty feet. Cook's arm was broken in the fall and his head badly bruised. Carver was seen near by at the time and his arrest was made later at his home.

Dr. Hall Returns.—Dr. J. J. Hall, of the American Peace society, has just returned from North Carolina, where he made several addresses in behalf of the world's peace and a supreme court of nations. He received a hearty welcome, and plans are being perfected to hold a great state convention in the city of Raleigh during the present session of the state legislature.

FACES COMPLETELY BROKEN OUT

Children Had Terrible Sores on Face, Hands and Feet. Watery Blisters Turned to Running Sores. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In a Week Children Well.

Upper Marlboro, Md.—"My children suffered with terrible sores on the face, hands and feet. The trouble began with watery blisters and then turned to running sores. They seemed to irritate the children very much. They caused disfigurement, because their faces were completely broken out. They were very restless at night and the baby was very cross. They could neither wear shoes nor stockings.

"I used ——— salve, ——— ointment and ——— salve, but nothing seemed to relieve them until I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed the sores in lukewarm water with the Cuticura Soap and dried them well and then I applied the Cuticura Ointment. In a week my children were entirely well. I owe it all to Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Morgan Coffren, May 22, 1912.

When you buy a fine toilet soap think of the advantages Cuticura Soap possesses over the most expensive toilet soap ever made. In addition to being absolutely pure and refreshingly fragrant, it is delicately yet effectively medicated, giving you two soaps in one, a toilet and a skin soap at one price. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. A single set is often sufficient when all else has failed. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

"The introduction of the

Edison Dictating Machine

in addition to substantial returns on the actual investment, has increased our efficiency."

Extract of letter from Auditor of Santa Fe

The Edison naturally shows substantial returns on the investment because its use requires the presence of only one, the dictator, for the dictation of correspondence. Independent of anyone else, he starts when he is ready, dictates at his own speed, without interruption, and finishes when he would be only well under way if dictating to a stenographer.

The Edison Dictating Machine

Is fireproof. It is all steel and is equipped with a steel, four-post pedestal having platform for cylinders and large, easy rolling castors.

The stenographer, freed of shorthand writing and reading, puts in all of her time accurately transcribing just what she hears as it comes off the Edison beside her desk.

The dictator's actual dictating time is cut in two. The transcriber's possible dictating time is doubled. Result—correspondence at half the cost imposed by the old stenographic method. Full efficiency from the whole staff.

We will gladly make a demonstration in your office on your work without disturbing the work in the slightest. Our book, "The Goose, the Typewriter and the Wizard," will be sent you free on request.

Women Should Keep in Mind Eternal Fitness of Things

HAVING STYLISH CLOTHES NOT ALL

By Isma Dooly

A knowledge of the eternal fitness of things is more to be desired by a woman than even style, and certainly more than clothes in quantity. The woman who, with her shirtwaist and serge skirt, wears black satin slippers with steel buckles to early breakfast only makes a worse blunder when, with a pale pink chiffon gown in the evening, she wears high walking boots.

The excuse she would give would be that she did not have time to button her boots or more appropriate footgear in the morning, and that for the same reason—lack of time—she did not have time to remove her high boots in the evening when she donned her evening gown. For a woman to make this mistake against the law of "eternal fitness' is even more reprehensible than for a man to go to an evening party wearing with his evening suit a pair of tan shoes. Men have not the time to study form as women have, and they more often have the excuse of lack of time to make the complete toilet.

The woman who would make these blunders rarely have the excuse of other activities, for in nine cases out of ten they are not women who are doing this for others, living abreast of the times; they are most often women who give their time to matinees, gadding on the streets and on rainy days reading cheap literature. They read and idle and dream and nap until nearly time for the evening meal, then to the mirror they go. Cosmetics may be carefully applied and the front of the hair tastily arranged. The pink chiffon evening gown was put on; a few drops of fine extract dashed on the front of the corsage, but there was no time to remove the high boots and she went down with them on.

A White Plume In Atlanta.

The leading fashion publications are on this womans table; she is uptown on all bargain days; right now she has on hand a half a dozen evening gowns half worn, two afternoon reception gowns and a velvet suit, but she has not a gown that is suitable to wear to church or for shopping. With her velvet suit she is wearing a hat for which she paid $60. It has a white plume and aigrette on it and looks like everything else white does when it has been worn in Atlanta three times, for this woman has not learned the first lesson in the eternal fitness of things!

One would not be hard upon her about the mistakes she makes on the subject of dress if she did not assume the air of one who knows all and if she did not criticise the apparel of others.

Then, too, she insists on referring to the Titanic disaster, at the party, where the sister of one of the guests was lost at that time; and, worse than all, she is emphatic in her determination to let everybody know that she did not, under any circumstances, believe in divorce, though the brother of the lady giving the party had just entered suit for one.

Then she will insist upon discussing her own person: "I have lost ten pounds since October; see the line here in my neck; can't you see by my figure, I have lost," and "I did not curl my hair tonight, because I had a shampoo, and it stood out so."

Husband Doesn't "Understand."

Yes, this woman who has not time to put on the right shoe in the morning, or the right one with the pretentious toilet in the evening, will commit any crime against the "eternal fitness of things," even the crime of complaining that her husband does not "understand" her.

The more one considers the tremendous amount of money which is expended by women on dress, and the many women who think of little else but that, the more it is almost their religious duty to study the matter more carefully than they do, and to get things they need as well as things they like. It is their business to look into fashions; to study what is becoming to them; to realize that fashions change, and that unfortunately a woman's attire is frequently almost an index of her character.

About this woman's house: Oh, she is too delicate to keep house—she boards!

One Who Knows How to Dress.

Six gowns were described as those making up the trousseau of the best gowned woman in a group of women who were considered au fait in a colony of Americans recently sojourning in Paris.

"She went all the time," said the woman describing her chic toilets, "and yet I never saw her when she was not well groomed."

For walking she had two suits, one of black diagonal cloth strictly tailormade, and the tops of her walking boots were of the same material. The other was of dark soft-looking gray material and the tops of her boots were of the same color. Both hats she wore with these costumes were black and small, one was all black, the other had a touch of white about it.

The two afternoon gowns had short trains. One was black velvet, and the hat to be worn with it, had as its only trimming a superb paradise algrette; the other was in taupe color charmeuse; the corsage lightened with lace and chiffon and the hat of the same color, trimmed in plumes.

The evening gowns were marvels n becomingness; one was black combined with lace, which showed a fresh pink satin underneath, and the corsage was charming in grace and softness; the other was of white, rich about the corsage in silver and shiny things. For all toilets she had the accessories; the shoes, slippers, scarfs and headgear, and never did she appear in any of these gowns at any but the right time. She was master of the knowledge of the eternal fitness of things.

Miss American to Visit City.

Miss Sadie American, who is one of the best known women in America and whose work among her own people ranks with that of Jane Addams, will soon visit Atlanta. Miss American is secretary of the General Council of Jewish Women and president of the New York branch of the association. She visited Atlanta during the Cotton States and International exposition and was among the women who came at that time bringing the message of organization to the women of the south.

Miss American is one of the leading spirits of the General Federation of Womens clubs and a woman who is at the head of the social betterment scheme promoted by Jane Addams and women of her type.

Miss American is a brilliant speaker and she will speak in Atlanta next Tuesday evening, January 28, under the auspices of the Atlanta branch of the Council of Jewish Women. The lecture will take place in the Temple, and to it the Atlanta council and all who are interested are invited.

Smith-Kitchens.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Smith, of East Lake, announce the marriage of their daughter, Grace, and Mr. Joe C. Kitchens, of Atlanta. The marriage was solemnized at the home of Rev. Walker, 76 Hill street, Sunday, the 19th, at 4:30 p. m. They will be at home to their friends at their residence, McDonough road.

Chi Zeta Chi Banquet.

The semi-annual banquet of Kappa chapter of Chi Zeta Chi Medical fraternity, held Saturday evening at the chapter hall in the McKenzie building, was one of the most delightful events in its history.

To the strains of delightful music, two-steps, waltzes, Virginia reels and square dances were much enjoyed by all present.

After the merry prelude came the installation of officers. In a most impressive manner Mr. Alvah W. White, the retiring eminent grand, conferred upon Mr. A. C. McKenzie the rights as eminent grand of Kappa chapter, after which Mr. McKenzie, in eloquent phrases, responded.

Dr. B. H. Wagnon, the speaker of the evening, was highly entertaining, using much wit and humor in his discourse.

Mr. G. L. Carter, one of the extemporaneous speakers, suggested that banquets come oftener. Then all were invited into the festive hall, where the color scheme was carried out, and partook of a sumptuous repast.

Dr. Wagnon was toastmaster. Those present were the wives and lady friends of the members: Misses Grace Pounds, Ruth Anderson, Edna Blackman, Frances Wells, Frances Coleman, Bertie Dunbar, Maybel Cheshire, Lucile Lawton, Mrs. A. W. White and Mrs. B. F. Rainey, Dr. B. H. Wagnon and Messrs. A. W. White, B. T. Rainey, G. L. Carter, R. L. Blackman, R. E. Gilbert, R. J. Green, A. C. McKenzie, T. E. Pugh, J. A. Thurston, F. R. Hames and W. C. Stubbs.

Study Club.

The Wednesday Morning Study club will meet with Mrs. Charles A. Forrest, 278 Gordon street, at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, January 22.

Miss Stone Entertains.

The tacky party given on Wednesday evening, January 8, by Miss Myrtis Stone, of College Park, at her home on Harvard avenue, was the most delightful social event of the season, charming hospitality, exquisite taste being emphasized in every detail.

White and green were the colors used in the living room, masses of white narcissi and an attractive arrangement of palms carrying out the suggestion.

Delightful games were played, one of which was a guessing contest. Music also added to the pleasure of the guests.

Refreshments were served throughout the entire evening. Votes were cost for the tackiest and most comical young man and young lady. The prizes awarded were a box of stationery, won by Miss Mary Thrasher, and a satin tie won by Mr. Byron Mason.

Those present were Misses Ruby West, Ethelyn Rayford, Nellie Croley, Mary Thrasher, Ariene Thrasher, Anita Thrasher, Fannie Sue Bailey, Elizabeth West, Keith Josephine, Marybell Duncan, Henrietta Keene, Mozelle Thompson, Jessie Griffin, Helen Conway, Margaret Maddox, Miss Quaddlebaum, of New York city, the guest of Miss Josephine; Miss Myrtis Stone; Mr. Neely, Mr. Croley, Mr. McDonald, Mr. James Luck, Mr. Byron Luck, Mr. Lyle, Mr. Rayford, Mr. Byron Mason, Mr. Griffin, Mr. Joues, Mr. Norton, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Snow, Mr. Underwood, Mr. Hollingsworth, Mr. Crawford Maddox, Mr. Henry Maddox, Mr. Alex Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McLane.

Children's Party.

Edith Nichols Coleman, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Coleman, of 551 Euclid avenue, celebrated her eighth birthday Saturday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock. Seventy of her friends were entertained, one of the features of pleasure being a fish pond, from which favors were drawn during the afternoon. The table from which the birthday repast was served was decorated in Richmond roses, and the color of the Richmond rose was reflected in the candle shades tipping silver candlesticks. Roses filled vases in the various apartments open for the entertainment of the youthful guests.

Little Miss Coleman wore a white dress trimmed in Irish point lace made over pale blue. Mrs. Coleman was assisted in entertaining by Miss Minnie Nicols, Miss Ruth Paden, Miss Lilian Daley, Miss Louise Dean.

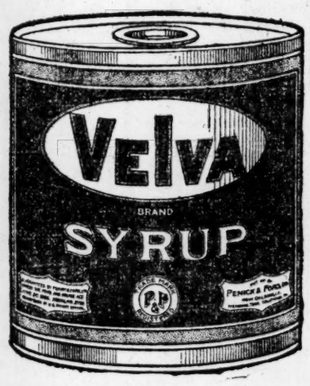
Get Acquainted With Velva



that good syrup with the RED LABEL. It is the finest of table syrups and has the tip-top quality that you'll like and ought to have. Velva is in a class by itself—it's so good, so wholesome and so appetizing. Little people love it, because it satisfies their craving for sweets. Big people like it, too, at any meal, because it makes the other food taste better. Get your grocer to send you a can of

VELVA

There isn't any syrup half so good on griddle cakes, waffles or muffins—on biscuits or fritters, or just bread. That's why it has made a good name and keeps it. It's the quality and the characteristic flavor that makes it the better syrup. It makes delicious taffies and kisses, popcorn candy and caramels. Velva makes fine pulled candies and great fudge. Try it and back you'll come for more. Velva is the only syrup that is good for all purposes. It's more than a sweet—it's a food that helps reduce the high cost of living. Ten cents up, according to size. Don't fail to send for illustrated book of Velva recipes. There never was anything like this collection of recipes by the cooking expert of the Ladies' Home Journal. No charge.

10c Red Velva Snaps 10c

1 cupful Red Velva Syrup, 1 tablespoonful baking soda, 1-2 cupful butter, 1-2 cupful lard, 1 cupful sugar, 1 egg, 1 tablespoonful powdered ginger, 1 teaspoonful grated nutmeg, 1 tablespoonful vinegar, flour.

Bring the syrup to boiling point, then stir in the soda, then melt the butter and lard in the syrup. Pour the whole, while foaming, over the sugar, egg well beaten, ginger and nutmeg; now add the vinegar and enough flour to make the mixture stiff enough to roll. Cut out with a cutter, lay on buttered tins and bake in a moderate oven till ready.

Thalians on 20th Anniversary Will Repeat First Performance

Athens, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—The "Thalians," the dramatic club at the University of Georgia, will celebrate its twentieth anniversary on February 3 by reproducing the program which was presented at the first public appearance of the society in 1893. Two short farces and a local skit which will carry the same song specialties which the boys sang twenty years ago will be the bill for the Colonial on the first Friday evening in next month. The company will visit several Georgia towns following their performance here.

The Thalians is the oldest college or city dramatic club in the state, and claims to be the oldest college dramatic club in the south. Lamar Lyndon was the organizer of the club. His cousin, Miss Mary Lyndon, is this year directing and coaching the work of the club for the ninth year. She is a graduate of the same dramatic school which producedMargaret Anglin, appearing in "Green Stockings." Many men prominent in the official life of the state have acted in its performances.

George Beckett was the Thalians' first musical director in the days when the dramatic and glee club features were combined in one club and on one program.

The twentieth anniversary appearance is looked forward to with much pleasure by Georgia alumni throughout the state.

THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.
(At the Grand.)

Six years ago Kathleen Clifford and Charles Frohman were guests at a very smart dinner in New York.

After a while Miss Clifford had said all the clever things she could think of and to make conversation go, remarked that she would like to go on the stage.

"Can you act?" asked Mr. Frohman.

"No," she had to confess.

"Can you sing?" was his next query.

"Not a note," was her admission.

"Ever dance?" this time Frohman was smiling a bit.

"Don't know how at all," she answered.

"Then you ought to make good on the stage," said Mr. Frohman, and a few days later she received a part to study in a revival of "The Girl from Kays."

Since that most unusual stage entrance Miss Clifford has learned all the tricks of the trade, and her finished work as "The Smartest Chap in Town," at the Grand this week, proves that she has taken advantage of every opportunity and studied intelligently in order to play properly every role given her.

This week she is appearing as a good-looking boy, who wears the finest of masculine clothes, makes quick changes, sings pleasingly and dances cleverly. The shadowgraphs showing her changes are a new idea for Atlanta.

People who have seen stock players for many years play "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," would find it hard to believe that this most laughable play could be cut down to some fifteen minutes and could be done most acceptably in that time.

Yet this is the feat performed by the Providence Players who get many a laugh during their brief time on the stage. The work of Lynne Overman as the fake Mr. Brown, is unusually good.

As a usual thing, when the last act comes on the stage, people in front begin to stand up and put on their overcoats and wraps and crowd past those who want to see on their homeward way. Monday there were few who left. Each succeeding performance there will be fewer. And those who do, will miss one of the best casting acts of the season. The DeLasso brothers offer some wonderful feats.

Morgan, Bailey and Morgan, two men and a woman, won many friends at the first two performances on Monday. The men are fine entertainers, and the third member of the act is some good looking woman.

Sprague and McNeece, in roller skating, and oh, you turkey trot, Ben Linn in songs, and Emerson and Baldwin, juggling comedians, are on and off again in just thirty minutes for the three. The fun is fast and furious during this time, however, and it just won't do to come in late.

Incidentally it was a pippin of a house. Every seat on the lower floor was taken and Manager Cardoza wore out the carpet in the foyer tramping up and down looking for a seat. He had to stand.

"The Merry Widow."
(At the Atlanta.)

"The Merry Widow" is a show of enduring popularity. Despite the fact that the same production has been seen in Atlanta on numerous former occasions, the large audience which saw its initial appearance at the Atlanta last night proved that its popularity has waned not in the least.

The same packed house which has always attended the show in Atlanta sat with the same entranced silence through the wonderful waltz scene, to break into storms of applause at the end of each dance, encored "Maxim's," "Vilia" and "I Love You So," laughed at the Englishman and Nish, fell in love with the widow, and left feeling that they would gladly go again.

The show returns to Atlanta without a trace of that deterioration either in cast or production which ofttimes becomes characteristic of road shows whose names may be depended upon to draw patronage.

The charming Miss Mabel Wilber, who in previous performances in this city has won for herself a warm place in the hearts of the theatergoers, again captured for herself laurels in the role of Sonia. Miss Wilber is an actress whose powers unfold and grow upon the audience. In the first act one is almost persuaded to believe that she is merely a good actress, and neither a singer nor a dancer, but when she lets out the full volume and quality of her voice in "Vilia" and a little later goes gliding through the maddening mazes of the waltz, the impression is at once and very pleasantly dispelled.

Miss Wilber is supported by Charles Meakins, as Prince Danilo, who is also familiar to Atlantans. With his magnificent physique, which so admirably fits him for the part, Mr. Meakins makes a splendid prince, and won repeated rounds of applause for his clever dancing with Miss Wilber.

The real danseuse of the show, however, is Miss Viola Napp, who plays the role of Fi-Fi in the scene at Maxim's. The grace and abandon with which Miss Napp hurls herself into the revelry of the dance is wonderful, and her art was highly appreciated by last night's audience.

As for the lyrics, music and plot of the show, so much as a word is useless, for who is not familiar with every scene, line and note of "The Merry Widow?"

"The Merry Widow" will be seen again at the Atlanta this afternoon and tonight.

"The Woman."
(At the Atlanta.)

Seats are now selling at the Atlanta for the engagement of David Belasco's remarkable play, "The Woman," which will be played Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee. This is a play of graft and insurgency, and it ran six months in New York and as long in Chicago. Mr. Belasco is sending a perfect company to Atlanta, and every detail has been worked out under his personal direction.

Ward and Vokes.
(At the Lyric.)

With all their favorite jokes, and some that are too new to have been chosen as particular pets, Ward and Vokes, known for years on the comic stage, presented last night, at the Lyric, a revival of their farce, "A Run on the Bank." As has sometimes happened in their career together, they are not the only ones on the stage who rank above the mere fillers. In Lucy Daly, daughter of Dan Daly, who once held aughs in his hands, the audience found a versatile and clever little actress, capable of singing the regular songs, and especially good in character parts.

In her character song, "At the Old Stage Door," during which her brother, Dan Daly, Jr., impersonates his father, Miss Daly found the most favor with her audience. She was also good in the part of an adventuress. She sings a number of songs, and all of them are pleasing.

Taken as a whole, and for those who enjoy the kind of comedy for which Ward and Vokes are famous, the week's attraction is entitled to rank among the most popular comedies seen this season at this theater.

The majority of the chorus are dainty and attractive, and many of them can sing. Jack Atkins and Richard Barry, in their songs with the chorus, are also popular.

The play is in two acts, with Ward and Vokes taking their parts of two fake English lords, who pose as financiers and establish a bank on the credit their titles give them.

The New Bribery.
(From Judge.)

"Oh, ma!" exclaimed the daughter of the candidate, "I just saw papa kissing the cook-lady!"

"That's all right, dear. He is acting as my manager, and I want her vote for today's election."

MOODY LADY NOT MOODY

For Five Years, Miss Davis, of Moody, Was in Terrible Plight, But She Is Now in Fine Spirits.

Moody, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this place, Miss Cora Davis, of R. F. D. No. 6, Box 20, writes as follows:

"I had been taking different medicines for the past five years, without any relief, and last Spring my system was so completely run down, and I felt so tired and nervous all the time, hardly felt like staying out of bed.

Friends advised me try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and after taking six bottles, I felt like an entirely different person.

I was relieved of my nervousness, and bad headaches, and could sleep soundly all night,—something I hadn't done for years.

I also gained 18 pounds in weight after taking Cardui, and am in better spirits, and feel better, than I have felt for five years.

I cannot say enough in behalf of Cardui. It is the grandest medicine ever discovered, and a God-send to all suffering women and girls."

We do not ask you to accept our statements as to the merit of Cardui, the woman's tonic.

We receive thousands of letters, similar to the above, from grateful ladies, every year, telling what this medicine has done for them, and giving us permission to publish their letters.

These letters speak for themselves.

EDUCATORS AT MEETING DISCUSS NEGRO PROBLEM

Discussing the negro problem and other questions of interest to educators generally, the executive committee of the Southern Educational association met Monday morning at the Piedmont hotel.

Professor M. L. Brittain, superintendent of education for Georgia and president of the association, presided over the meeting of the committee. The others present were W. K. Tate, of Columbia, S. C., first vice president of the association and state superintendent of rural schools for South Carolina; W. F. Feagin, assistant superintendent Alabama department of education, Montgomery, Ala., and Dr. J. H. Phillips, superintendent of schools, Birmingham, Ala.

They expressed the belief that the negro problem could best be handled by the educators of the south, who understand the question better than anyone else. The committee will meet again in two months, and will then announce the meeting place of the association in November of this year. Nashville, Charleston and Asheville are being considered for the meeting.

The January Silk Sale winds up business in just 10 more shopping days. Newly low prices, therefore, to hurry all these silks out.

Prices are half and less than half, but the silks are perfect, dependable and seasonable. Many of them are special purchases and include advance spring styles; others are the staple solid colors and black from our own good stock. It's a time to buy---and save thus:

85c to $1.50 Silks of All Kinds

A big grouping of various lots of silks remaining from former sales. Choose from messalines, chiffon taffetas, kimono silks, chiffons, velvets, nets, etc. There are full pieces of chiffon taffetas in stripes, Persians and floral effects, in all the stylish Spring shades. The rest of the silks are in short lengths from 1 to 10 yards. Widths 19 to 24 inches. Choice 33c. 33c

85c Foulards

Spring dresses for all, in the loveliest of foulards. Not a skimpy few tag ends, but scores of full pieces. All the smart stripes, figures and scroll designs, as well as the new two-color spray and bud patterns. More than 10 shades of blues alone—navy, Copenhagen, chasseur, Russian, etc., as well as rose, tan, reseda, berry shades, brown, etc. Always retails for 85c, here at 59c.

$1 to $1.50 Silks

69¢

Wonderful values here—just the cheerfulest, spring-like silks, in soft chiffon taffetas and messalines. Jacquard effects and fancy stripes in 27-inch widths. Also full yard-wide chiffon taffetas in artistic hair-line and Pekin stripes in wistaria, purple, myrtle, reseda, cardinal, blue, etc.

It's like finding money to buy these $1, $1.25 and $1.50 silks for 69c.

$2 to $3 Silks

97¢

Just yesterday the writer read a New York store's "Advance Spring Silk Presentation," wherein they featured—"chiffons with brocaded spray festoons and silver," "printed chiffons and marquisettes," and "impressionistic chiffons." They are all here and at 97c instead of $3. And there are ever so many more exquisite patterns. 44 inches wide, too. 3 to 5 yards makes a dress. And only 97c.

Clearing 59c to $1 Silk Remnants at

Just a small lot of about 500 yards of taffetas, messalines, fancy silks, nets and velvets, kimono silks, etc. A little bit of everything in lengths from 1-4 yard to 5 yards. Former prices 59c to $1. A clean-up at 19c. 19c

$1.50 Silk and Wool Poplin

This lovely silk and wool fabric for practical spring gowns. Solid colors in Nile, rose, ciel, violet and amethyst. 44 inches wide. 3 to 5 yards for a dress. drapes delightfully. 98c

TURKEY MUST YIELD OR GO TO FIGHTING

Final Warning Is Given to Ottoman Government by Balkan States.

London, January 20.—Balkan plenipotentiaries who are awaiting the Turkish reply do not attempt to conceal their impatience and firm determination to prevent Turkey from postponing settlement of the war longer than a week.

Full power to declare the resumption of hostilities against Turkey was telegraphed today to Dr. S. Daneff, leader of the Bulgarian delegation and his colleagues by the Bulgarian premer, J. S. Guechoff, who told them to exercise it whenever in their opinion further peace negotiations became useless.

Rechad Pasha received long cipher messages from Constantinople this afternoon and, it is asserted, he was instructed to confer with Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, with the object of obtaining direct intervention by the powers under the form of mediation, or in another way, if more acceptable, so that Turkey might be spared the humiliation of ceding Adrianople at first hand.

Rechad Pasha, accompanied by Tewfik Pasha and Osman Nizami Pasha, visited the British foreign secretary, but the nature of Sir Edward Grey's reply has not been disclosed.

The meeting of the national assembly at Constantinople has been postponed until Wednesday, and the porte's reply to the note of the powers will be presented after this meeting. The general impression is that the Turkish government is weakening with respect to the demands of the allies.

ROVING TURKISH CRUISER HAS SAILED FOR RED SEA

Port Said, January 20.—The Turkish cruiser Hamidieh, which arrived here on Saturday, sailed today for the Red Sea, after taking on board 100 tons of coal, which was all the authorities would allow her.

ATLANTA WOMEN JOIN SUFFRAGETTE PARADE

In the stupendous suffragette parade which is being planned for the day preceding the inauguration at Washington, D. C., Georgia is to be well represented. A band of several dozen women from Atlanta and other points in Georgia are preparing to go to Washington in a body and take part in the parade.

Mrs. Amelia Woodall, president of the Atlanta Civic league, and Miss Catherine Koch, secretary, are in charge of arrangements for the delegation. The Atlanta Civic league is the equal suffrage association of this city.

Mrs. W. H. Felton, of Cartersville; Mrs. A. T. Additon, of Flowery Branch, and Mrs. Margaret T. McWhorter, of Atlanta, are among the others who are planning to attend.

WORKMEN HURT IN 4-STORY FALL

Three Men Drop From Plank Scaffold at Seventh Floor.

Down the shaft of the interior court of the new Ponce de Leon apartments, being constructed on Peachtree, opposite the Georgian Terrace hotel, three workmen plunged headlong yesterday afternoon. A cry rent the air, and scores of workmen turned to see the bodies fall limp and bleeding on a narrow ledge four stories below.

"Dead?" they all stopped for a moment to inquire.

"Naw; what's four stories to fall?" answered a worker.

And when the word passed around that the men were not killed, the work on the great structure buzzed steadily on. Scores of hardened workmen, who had climbed steel girders high in the air above dozens of cities over the country, joked at the incident, and then forgot it. They had seen their fellows topple off and plunge so often to the pavement, five—ten stories below, that it came to be an incident not worth bothering about, unless they were killed.

The three workmen themselves, when they came to consciousness, several hours later, in clean beds at the Grady hospital, described the thrills of their headlong fall, and told the doctors to get them out as quick as possible, so they could go back to work. Their heads and bodies were swathed in bandages, but their sound, indomitable hearts were plugging away resolutely. Frank Clinton, of 265 Whitehall street, was the worst injured of the trio. His arms were broken in several places, his face was smashed in, and several ribs were splintered. E. L. Knox, of 63 East Cain street, came off easier, but his head was badly battered. The third was a negro laborer. All three are expected to recover.

The accident happened just at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. The three men were at work on a scaffold of planks constructed at the seventh floor in the shaft where the elevators will be placed. They were working on the big smokestack that will rise from the basement to the top of the structure. The reason for the scaffold giving way had not been learned Monday. The planks went down with the three men, however, and they landed in a heap on another narrow scaffold at the third floor. Had it not been for this ledge, they would have been dashed five stories lower to the foundation of the building. Within twenty minutes from the time of the accident, workmen were busy nailing the scaffolding back into place around the smokestack, so that others might take the places of those who had tumbled to a near death down the elevator shaft.

C. C. Littlejohn, Jr.

Charles C. Littlejohn, Jr., died last night at 7:30 o'clock at his residence, 20 Uncle Remus avenue. He was 26 years old, and had been sick for several weeks. He is survived by his eral weeks. He is survived by his funeral will be held from the West End Baptist church this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the interment will be in College Park.

MANY MEN WILL TESTIFY IN CASE AGAINST WOMAN

Cordele, Ga., January 20.—(Special.). Excitement has been created over the current report on good authority that the names of over 100 men, some of them married and most all of whom are prominently connected, have been secured as witnesses before the grand jury in the cases of J. D. Wilder and Mary Orphamious, charged with conducting an immoral house just beyond the city limits.

After hearing only thirteen of the twenty-five witnesses summoned to testify in the justice court trial this morning, Wilder was bound over under bond of $300. The Orphamious woman, claiming to be sick, waived committal trial, and was held for the grand jury under a similar bond, which meets in special session on February 3.

The cases have aroused sentiment to a high pitch, and much excitement has been created.

RAISE FOR EMPLOYEES OF GEORGIA RAILROAD

Augusta, Ga., January 20.—An agreement was reached yesterday with representatives of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen for sweeping increases in the pay of conductors and trainmen on the Georgia railroad main line and branches. The increased rate will mean increases in salaries of from $5 to $35 per month each for 300 men. The raise affects also negro porters, switchmen and brakemen, who receive increases of 10 per cent. Standard rates are now in effect over all lines of the Georgia railroad. The new schedule is effective from January 1, 1913.

FRESHMEN ON WARPATH RUSH ATHENS THEATERS

Athens, Ga., January 20.—(Special.) Pursuant to a posted call to the freshmen of the University of Georgia to meet tonight and "show their spirit, if they have any," the red caps turned out and let the city know they were present. The "sophs" also held an impromptu meeting.

Signs and other loose property at the entrance of the "movie" houses were destroyed when they were refused a "rush" admission and when they charged the Colonial, where Margaret Anglin was playing "Green Stockings," the crowded house was thrown into a panic for a moment.

Some one cried "fire," several ladies fainted and for a moment terror reigned. It was soon explained that the freshmen were the cause of the commotion and serious damage was avoided.

MODERN RIP VAN WINKLE DEAD IN MOUNTAINS

Hunter, N. Y., January 20.—Not until after the funeral at Paines Falls, yesterday, did the residents of this Catskill section learn that a modern Rip Van Winkle, in the person of Gilbert Green, an aged trapper, had taken his own life under unusual circumstances. "Old Gib's" body was found Friday in a cave in the woods in a coffin, which he built himself out of rough timber. Beside him were his faithful dog, his gun, and bottle which had contained poison.

BURSTING BOILER KILLS AND INJURES

Two Firemen Dead and Several Hurt at Aragon—Damage to Mill $10,000.

Aragon, Ga., January 20.—Tom and Jim Davis, colored, are dead, and several other negroes injured, as the result of an explosion in the boiler room of the Aragon cotton mill. The dead and injured were firemen, and the only persons in the room at the time. One of the negroes, pinned by heavy steel fragments, begged that his legs be cut off to escape the steam of boiling water that was cooking them to the bone.

A piece of iron struck the dynamo belt, severing it and throwing in warkness the whole mill, where several hundred operatives were at work. A 400-pound piece of iron was hurled straight into the air and fell through the weaving room, miraculously missing several operatives and burying itself in the basement. The estimated damage to the property is $10,000.

SOCIALISM DIVIDES CHURCH CONGREGATION

Schenectady, N. Y., January 20.—The anti-socialistic faction of the United People's church here, of which Mayor George R. Lunn is pastor, have been summoned by him to show cause why they should not be deprived of the use of the church building. Last night Dr. Lunn's opponents, who were members of the First Congregational church before its union with the People's church, voted to bar the socialists from the building after February 23, when the affiliation agreement expires. Both sides have engaged legal counsel. The church property is in the name of the First Congregational church, whose former members charge the socialists with trying to gain control of it to sell for their advantage.

"MOVIES" TAKE CUSTOM FROM THE BARROOMS

New York, January 20.—Moving pictures are helping to keep Cornell students sober, according to the report of Theodore Tweston, a proctor at the university. Evenings are now spent at the "movies," he says, which formerly were more generally taken up by carousals. Mr. Tweston also reported that undergraduates were no longer allowing a false college spirit to overcome their good sense, and realize that an intoxicated student is a disgrace to the university.

SOUTHERN NEWSPAPER MEN TO MEET IN ATLANTA

The next meeting of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association, which takes place early in the spring of 1914, will be held in Atlanta. The association, at its annual meeting in New Orleans last week, decided upon Atlanta for the next convention.

The invitation to meet in Atlanta was extended by the three daily newspapers, and was supported by telegrams from Governor Joseph M. Brown, Mayor James G. Woodward and Wilmer L. Moore, presidednt of the cnamber of commerce.

The exact date of the meeting will be fixed by the board of directors after consultation with the Atlanta newspaper men. The meetings are always attended by a large number of the stronger newspaper men in the south, and they are always entertained in the best possible style.

When the meeting comes to Atlanta, the city will have a great opportunity to get some very valuable advertising.

Chorus Strikers Back to Work.

Chicago, January 20.—The chorus of the Chicago Grand Opera company, which struck in a body last night, preventing a scheduled performance of "Pagliacci," returned to work tonight and assisted in a performance of La Boheme. The chorus objected to working twice on Sunday unless they were paid $2.50 instead of $2 for the extra performance.

He Robbed Six Banks.

Pueblo, Col., January 20.—A young man arrested here under the name of Charles Clark confessed in police court today that he is wanted in Oklahoma for six bank robberies, including the robbery of the Claremore State bank on November 1, 1912. Clark says his real name is Homer Richards.

THE JANUARY EMBROIDERY SALE

Starts Today at 8:30 O'Clock

Women who remember the whole-hearted way we cut prices in our annual clearance of embroideries have been asking us when the 1913 sale would start.

Now!

It starts today, burdened with bargains—genuine bargains worth the while of every woman, particularly of those who have the foresight to buy now against the many, many embroidery needs that the spring and summer months bring.

We have gone through the stock with a searching eye and a big blue pencil and a firm intent to make this the most remarkable embroidery sale that any January has ever brought.

Included are embroideries every weight, width and style that one could need—and only in a very, very few cases are the new prices as much as one-half of real worth.

So come with the intention of buying large, that your actual savings may be large.

But here, the prices tell you better what to expect—and please remember that every yard is from our own stock, that the worth prices are those these embroideries formerly bore in this big, well-selected stock.

10c For 20c to 50c Embroideries

Nainsook and Swiss Edges and Insertions.

Edges 4 to 9 inches wide.

Insertions 1 to 2 1-2 inches wide.

19c For 50c to 75c Embroideries

Inexpensive Jewelry Made Even Less Expensive

For This January Clearaway

There is little respect for the usual methods of selling jewelry when it comes Clearance time here. It, too, is mere merchandise, subject to the rules of storekeeping as practiced in every department.

And so this sale, and your savings.

It is Clearance time for jewelry!

Odd lots of small and inexpensive pieces—left-overs from the busy jewelry season—must sparkle and glisten for others. Doubtless for you, now that we have cut prices practically in half and since there always seems a use for another little stick pin, hatpin, brooch, pair of cuff buttons, buckle or the like.

Hundreds of pieces to choose from---and yet nothing tawdry or bizarre---good taste guided their selection.

But all must give way to the new stocks soon to arrive---and so these prices.

The list below points the way of the savings, and does no more. It remains for you to see how attractive the pieces are for such little prices.

At 10c Articles Formerly 25c

Such as gold-plated Stick Pins and Cuff Buttons; Brooches, gold-plated and set with stones; oxidized and gold-plated Belt Buckles and Shirtwaist Rings of sterling—set with stones. These were 50c. And Hatpins that were 25c to 75c are now 10c.

BRITTON IS HERE, WANTS LOCAL BOUT

Jack Is Hot on Trail of Packey McFarland and Other Stars.

Jack Britton, one of the game's greatest lightning hits, is in Atlanta. Britton is handling Jim Savage in his bout here with Kubiak tonight.

Britton fights Jimmy Evans, of Kansas City, in Memphis on Friday night. He may appear here shortly.

Britton has been hot on McFarland's trail for months, but the stockyards champ has run out of the match every time. They are now matched for the Garden Athletic club in New York February 7.

Britton and McFarland are regarded as the two cleverest lightweights in the game today. Britton, however, is a legitimate lightweight, and in line for Ritchie's crown. He is open to meet any lightweight, Rivers, Wolgast, McFarland, Ritchie and Hayes, included in that challenge.

That Britton is confident that he can beat McFarland is evidenced by his agreeing to allow Packey to weigh in at 137 pounds at 3 or 5 o'clock. This will make Packey weigh 140 ringside.

"I HAVE NOT QUIT," SAYS HANS WAGNER

Pittsburg, Pa., January 20.—(Special.) Hans Wagner plays basketball all winter to keep in condition. His team has not lost a game, winning fifty-six.

When asked why he indulged in such a violent game during the winter, Hans said:

"I'm doing this to improve my wind. You know us old fellows have to do gym work to keep in condition. But don't believe the story that I'm not going to last through the coming season. I'll play all season just like I always do. The sport writers retire me once a year, but I haven't thought of it yet."

SEWANEE CANCELS GAME WITH TULANE

Sewanee, Tenn., January 20.—(Special.)—Manager Glass of the Sewanee team has announced the cancelling of the game with Tulane, scheduled for November 15, and the substitution of Kentucky state.

KNOCKOUT BROWN RULES FAVORITE

A big force of men is working daily in the Atlanta Auditorium-Armory, getting the floor in place and making things ready for the opening bill of the great Military Boxing Series, which begins Friday night, with Jake Abel and Knockout Brown, in a ten-round bout, as the headliner.

It is proposed to have everything done on the most substantial scale. The ring will be scientifically constructed and strictly according to Queensberry. Good dressing rooms for the boxers are available and everything will be so arranged as to expedite matters and to run off the bouts with the snap that speaks of good management.

It is proposed to start the first bout at 8:30 o'clock sharp, and that means 8:30, no later and no earlier. The preliminary performers will be rushed into the ring without delay. They will not even go through the tiresome ordeal of putting their gloves on in the ring. All this will be attended to before they appear, and when they once show up, they will be ready for the tap of the gong that will send them on their way. The tiresome delays between preliminaries will be entirely done away with.

Tales of the Diamond

Humorous and Otherwise

BY BILLY EVANS

(Copyright, 1913, by W. G. Evans.)

Every minor league ball player in the country either knows or has heard of Dominick Mullaney. He has managed ball clubs in every bush league in the country, and a few that were in leagues that exploded before the bell rang. Last year Mullaney got through as a ball player and, tired of the woes of a minor league leader, tried his hand at umpiring. I am told that he did very well as a member of the Connecticut league staff.

Billy Evans.

For a number of years Mullaney has been managing clubs in the smaller leagues of the south. Fred Westervelt, who was a member of the American league staff last year, worked for several years prior to his major league debut in the same league wtih Mullaney. Westervelt freely admits that since he started umpiring he has been in many an embarrassing situation, but none that proved more trying than one pulled off by Mullaney at his expense. Here is the way Westervelt tells the story:

"It was customary in the South Atlantic league when I was working there, for the umpires to make a regular speech before starting the game. It was a rule of the league that before the game, the umpire had to announce the line-up of both teams. Very often it was anything but a pleasant task, especially if the day previous had been a strenuous one.

"On the 3d of July, several years ago, I had a rather tough day of it in Jacksonville. I was right in all my rulings, but most of them went against Jacksonville, and resulted in the defeat of the home team. A big crowd was out to see the morning game on Fourth of July. I was in good voice and announced the batteries and line-up in my best style. Just as I finished Mullaney, still peeved over the defeat of the preceding day, yelled in his loudest voice:

"'And Mr. Roquefort Cheese will umpire.'

"Did the crowd laugh? I refuse to answer that question. I'm going to let you draw your own conclusions."

JACK TWIN SULLIVAN MEETS KUBIAK - SAVAGE VICTOR; DIXIE A. C. HAS FINE CARD

Tonight's Card.

Jim Savage v. Al Kubiak, 10 rounds.
Christie Williams v. Kid Mitchell, 8 rounds.
Kid Young v. Red Nelson, 6 rounds.
Kid Shapiro v. Kid Clark, 4 rounds.

This is the card arranged by the Dixie Athletic club for boxing fans of the city tonight. Twenty-eight rounds of action. That tells the tale in a nutshell.

It has been announced that the winner of the ten-round main bout will be matched with Jack (Twin) Sullivan for the following week. This will furnish incentive to the boys to do their level best.

But this was already assured. It is a "grudge" battle as it stands. Kubiak believes he was robbed when Savage was given a newspaper decision in New York and the latter intends to prove that the decision was correct by beating Al in the city where he is such a huge favorite. This assures plenty of real action.

Kubiak will be the heavier of the two. Savage is reputed as the most scientific. Which carries the better wallop remains to be seen, though Savage's friends claim that for him. But local fans swear by Kubiak, and if Savage can beat Al he will grab a big slice of popular favor and will be in demand locally for future bouts.

Christie Williams and Kid Mitchell, the two big dinges who put on such a fast mill a couple of weeks ago, will meet in the semi-wind-up. As both are in better shape than when they appeared here before, this bout should be a hummer.

In Red Nelson, the matchmakers believe they have grabbed a tough boy that will make Kid Young, the newsboy champion of the city, extend himself to the limit. If he does, local fans are assured of a slap bang article for six rounds.

The opening preliminary starts at 8:30 o'clock. Tickets are now on sale at the usual places.

TWO MORE SIGNED BATTERY MATES

The signed contracts of Pitcher G. E. Price and Catcher Ham Reynolds, both members of last year's team, were received at baseball headquarters Monday, bringing the total signed up to nine.

The signed list is:

Pitchers—Price, Becker and Hartner.
Outfielders—Nixon and Moran.
Infielders—Kenard and Dohler.
Catchers—McAllister and Reynolds.

The unsigned list is:

Pitchers—Brady, Musser, Donnelly, Weaver, Bausewein and Osborne.
Catchers—Graham and Malcolmson.
Infielders—Agler, Alperman, Smith, DoBard and Keating.
Outfielders—Long, Bailey, Sisson and Callahan.

36 MOVES TO A DRAW IN THE CHESS MATCH

New York, January 20.—David Janowski, the French champion chess player, and Frank J. Marshall, who holds the premier honors of this country, met today in their postponed game of the first round of the grand national masters' tournament and played thirty-six moves to a draw.

None of the other contestants played, the second round having been postponed until tomorrow.

The French champion, who had the first move, played a knight's pawn, and Marshall countered with a Petroffs' defense. In his twenty-ninth move, Janowski, who had the better position, captured the wrong pawn and doubled rooks in so doing. As Marshall had driven his opponent's white king into a corner and was threatening a mate, Janowski had to be content to force a draw by a perpetual check.

KARTRIGHT CHURCH UNKNOWN PHENOM

The Constitution wired its Washington correspondent trying to trace the story concerning Kartright Church, whom it was said was being purchased by a Cracker agent for the locals.

His reply was, "Griffith does not know Church. Evidently he is a mythical person."

Wants a Bout.

Johnny Bell, a local 128-130-pound boxer, wants a bout before one of the local clubs in the near future. Address Charles Costello, 1 North broad street.

Welch Captain.

Carlisle, Pa., January 20.—(Special.) Gus Welch, quarterback, has been named captain of the Carlisle team for the coming season.

A NEW CRACKER

TOMMY LONG,
The "Gadsden Galloper" and formerly of Mobile, who has just been turned over to the Crackers by Manager Clark Griffith, of the Washington Americans.

TOUTS M'ALLISTER

The sporting editor is in receipt of the following letter from an Atlanta traveling man that speaks for itself:

"Friend Jemison: I note in today's Constitution what Stallings says about Mac, and he is right; the old Cleveland catcher will go strong in the Southern.

"He can't throw like Archer, nor hit like old Sid Smith, but when it comes down to the fine points of the game I think he is their superior. He takes care of himself, is a very quiet fellow off and on the field and knows how to handle pitchers. Don't worry, the team will be one, two, three when the season closes. Yours. T. G. J.

"Augusta, Ga., January 19, 1913."

BASKETBALL GAMES END AS EXPECTED

S. V. D. Team Seems Bound for Junior City League Pennant.

Clubs' Standing.

CLUBS—	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
S. V. D.	4	0	1.000
W. H. A. C.	3	1	.750
Wesley Memorial	1	3	.250
Immaculate Conception.	0	4	.000

Results Last Night.

At K. of C. court: S. V. D. 39, Immaculate Conception 2.

At Wesley court: W. H. A. C. 27, Wesley Memorial 15.

The fourth series of games in the Junior City league was plaed last night, both games going as expected. The S. V. D. team administered a most decisive defeat to its opponent, and seems bound for the pennant, and for a clean record. The W. H. A. C. team has a safe hold on second place, while Wesley Memorial has third place nailed down, and the I. C. boys have been unable to win a game this season.

W. H. A. C. Wins.

In a fiercely-contested but cleanly played game, the Wesley House Athletic club's quintet defeated the Wesley Memorial aggregation on the latter's court by the score of 27 to 15. Manard Fuller, of Wesley Memorial, refereed the game in excellent style.

The line-up and score:

Wesley	W. H. A. C. (27) Position.	Memorial (15)
Harris (11)	R. F.	Johnson (9)
C. Wallace (8)	L. F.	Spurlock
A. Wallace (6)	C.	Simmons
Nowell (2)	R. G.	Wallace
Bryant	L. G.	Martin

No Field Goals Scored.

The S. V. D. Fraternity team of the Junior City league gave the team of the Immaculate Conception the most severe drubbing even given one team by another in any league here. Score 39 to 2. The Immaculate Conception team did not make even one field goal during the game, nor one single point in the second half, making two free shots count in the first half, being the only points made by the I. C. team. Henry Taylor, of the Knights of Columbus, and Lester Forbes, of the Y. M. C. A. officiated.

The line-up and score:

S. V. D. (39)	Positions.	I. C. (2)
Newcomer (6)	R. F.	Crawford
Blodgett (11)	L. F.	Becknell
Callahan (16)	C.	Huckaby (2)
Romm	L. G.	Massa
Frank (6)	R. G.	Bervis

Dance After Game.

A dance was held immediately after the game between the S. V. D. and I. C. teams at the Knights of Columbus court last night, and was much enjoyed.

Schedule Adopted.

The directors of the Fulton Basketball league last night adopted a schedule for the remainder of the season, this being made necessary by reason of two teams leaving the league. All games will be played at the Armory court, which is on the third floor of the Auditorium.

1907 CRACKERS LEAGUE'S BEST

X-Leaguer in Commercial-Appeal Awards Them the Palm.

X-Leaguer, writing in The Memphis Commercial-Appeal, hands the palm to Billy Smith's 1907 Atlanta team as being the best all-round and most equally balanced club that ever performed in the Southern league.

He says of the catching staff of Sid Smith and Ed Sweeney that it was the best pair of backstops that ever worked on a team in the Southern league.

The infield, composed of long Jim Fox, Otto Jordan, Lou Castro and Bill Dyer, played brilliant ball all summer, he says.

As for the outfield, with Paskert, the brightest outfield star of the league, and such side kicks as Jesse Becker and Ginger Winters, "the hardest man to pitch to in the league that season," their outfield was all that could be asked, is his comment on this department.

Russ Ford, Bob Spade, Roy Castleton and Rube Zellars, the pitching staff, was a wonderful one.

In closing, X-Leaguer says: "That team, all things considered, was probably the best collectively that ever successfully battled for a pennant in this league."

RUSSELL IS DRUBBED BY "KNOCKOUT" BROWN

New Orleans, January 20.—"Knockout" Brown, of New York, gave Frankie Russell, of this city, a severe drubbing in a ten-round fight here tonight. Russell bore several bruises and a bad eye, while Brown was practically unscathed.

DEBATERS ARE CHOSEN TO REPRESENT EMORY

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—J. E. Matthews, of Vidalia, and Joel Mallet, of Jackson, were this morning chosen to represent Emory in the intercollegiate debate, this spring with Emory and Henry college, Virginia. Heywood Pearce, Jr., of Gainesville, was chosen alternate. Seven young men spoke at the tryout before a committee of the faculty composed of Drs. E. H. Johnson and W. F. Melton, and Professors George P. Shingler, Douglas Rumble and Albert G. Sanders.

Emory has never been defeated in a series of debates, and as the score now stands one for Emory and one for Henry, interest is on a keen edge as to outcome of this one. It will be held at some intermediate point, either Chattanooga or Nashville, probably the latter.

AVOID BEER IN LIGHT BOTTLES

Biliousness is Caused by Drinking IMPURE Beer!

When beer is pure there is nothing more healthful. Pure beer brings no after-effect, no biliousnesss.

Schlitz is not only made pure but is kept pure.

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives the best protection against light. The Brown Bottle protects Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

Perhaps if you, too, would drink Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles—you would have an altogether different idea about beer.

Schlitz in Brown Bottles should be your regular beer.

See that crown or cork is branded "Schlitz."

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

The annual banquet of the Atlanta real estate board will be held this year on the evening of February 22. The place has not yet been definitely decided upon, but will probably be the Piedmont hotel.

The entertainment cowmittee will meet today at noon and decide upon the place and arrange the details. A number of prominent realty men from eastern and northern cities and probably one or more officers of the national organization will be invited to attend and deliver addresses.

The banquet last year was attended by the president of the National Real Estate Men's association as well as several real estate experts of country-wide reputation from other cities. That event was one of the largest and most influential meetings ever held by the Atlanta real estate fraternity. It is expected, however, that this year's dinner will excel all those of the past.

Ivy Street Work.

The work of regrading Ivy street is now well under way. Although ground has not yet been broken for the purpose of establishing the uniform grade the stone retaining walls are practically complete. These walls reach their greatest height about the intersection of Harris and Baker streets, where they are considerably higher than a man's head. Apartment houses and residences are being shut off from the street as if they were a part of an ancient walled city.

The completion of the work on Ivy street will establish another thoroughfare from the center of the city as far northward as the intersection of Peachtree street and Forrest avenue. This improvement has already told greatly in the activity of the real estate market and the enhancement of realty values on this street. A number of notable deals have been made along the several blocks of this street since the announcement was definitely made that the improvements would be made and values have steadily risen. This activity and enhancement, according to the realty experts, is by no means over and a number of good-sized deals at advanced prices are expected to be made yet.

Not Building on Sands.

The fifteen-story Winecoff hotel, now in the course of construction at the southwest corner of Peachtree and Ellis streets, will not be a house builded upon the sands, but firmly established upon solid natural rock foundation, according to scripture and the advice of the best constructional authorities.

The excavation for the foundation of this building is now nearly complete and the sockets for the concrete foundation piles are now being sunk. The sockets have been excavated to a depth of five or six feet and the workmen have struck solid rock. They are now sounding to ascertain the thickness of this layer of rock, and if it is found the rock extends two feet deeper the piles will be placed and the building itself will shortly begin to rise above the ground. If, however, it is found that this layer of rock does not extend downward the necessary two feet, the excavation for the piles will go on until rock foundation is again struck.

The work of excavation in the rock is being done for a great part in the wee sma' hours of the night and while every one is asleep—unless, perchance, they happen to be just a bit too close to the scene of action. The business section of the city is being shaken with blasts of dynamite which sink the foundations deeper.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS.

AT PLUTOCRATS LA FOLLETTE HITS

In Barring the Passage of the Immigration Bill.

La Follette Says Measure Suits Russia and Plutocrats in United States. Bill Blocked.

Washington, January 20.—Control that Russia and other countries might exercise over emigration to the United States led the senate today to refuse to accept the conference report on the Burnett-Dillingham immigration bill. The bill was sent back to conference with the senate's disapproval of the provision requiring certification of character from emigrants coming from countries where such certificates are issued.

Attacked by Many Senators.

This feature of the bill was attacked by Senators La Follette, O'Gorman, Root, Stone and others as dangerous to the future of American immigration. The provision had been recommended by the federal immigration officials. Senator Lodge, in charge of the conference, asked that the bill be sent back to conference, where the "certificate of character" provision probably would be eliminated.

"I believe the introduction of this clause was at the sincere desire of the immigration officials, to aid them in keeping out members of the black hand and the Camorra" said Senator Root. "But it would open the door to foreign countries to limit or prevent the right of citizens to emigrate to the United States.

"It was evidently directed against the evils resulting from the immigration of criminals, who are making collections and groups of the most desperate criminals in New Yor. I believe the immigration officials were thinking of Italian criminals, and not of Russian citizens, in framing this clause, but its effect might be serious to the best character of immigration we now have."

Hundreds of Protests.

Hundreds of telegrams and protests were received by the senate early in the day from Jewish societies and immigration organizations. It was claimed that Russia, by refusing to issue certificates of character to Jews or other citizens, could practically stop immigration to the United States.

Senator La Follette criticised the power exercised by conference committees in putting new matter into bills, so that it could not be amended in the senate or the house.

"Rules and regulations of the senate and house have been so framed and so built up and engrafted upon by precedent as to put the legislation of this congress in the hands of a few men," declared Senator La Follette.

"I hope the time is coming when these two bodies will be made more democratic and more responsive to the public will," he added.

Character Clause Attacked.

Senator La Follette attacked the clause put into the bill by the conference committee by which immigrants might be debarred from the United States unless they brought certificates of character, when their native country had a law authorizing such certificates. He declared that conference committees of the house and senate should not have the power to put new provisions into bills over which the two houses had disagreed. Such action, he declared, put the legislation of important questions into the hands of six or seven men.

A determined fight, in which Senators Stone, O'Gorman and Simmons joined, was made on the "certificate of character" clause.

Senator La Follette said it went far beyond the purpose of the supporters of the plan and turned over to other countries the determination of what class of emigrants should be acceptable in the United tSates.

Practically every senator received a telegram from Louis Marshall, president of the American Jewish league, saying the inevitable result would be to exclude a majority of Jews coming from Russia and Roumania.

Senator Lodge contended that the provision did not affect Russian immigrants and held that the conferees had not exceeded their authority.

Measure Suits Russia.

Senator La Follette declared Russia could prevent its people leaving for the United States by refusing to issue certificates of good character. Russians who now come to the United States surreptitiously, he said, would, under the new provisions, be excluded.

"All those who believe in republican principles of government could be refused a certificate," he said. "Russia knows that one free tongue in New York is more harmful to Russian despotism than 10,000 shackled subjects in Siberia.

"Russia does not want these people seeking freedom admitted to the United States, and I believe that is why some others do not want them admitted, for these people are a menace to plutocracy and there are certain people in this country who do not favor encouraging the menace to plutocracy."

Gossip at the Capitol

Who Will Succeed Maddox?

Greater interest is being shown throughout the state in the successor of Judge John W. Maddox, who resigned from the judgeship of the Rome circuit last Friday, than any appintment which has come before the governor in some time.

Monday morning Governor Brown found himself deluged with correspondence recommending various prominent men for the position.

Just who the governor will name for this place is unknown and the governor himself has probably come to no decision yet. The candidates who are being most widely indorsed for the governor's appointment, however, are R. A. Denny and G. R. Hutchins, both of Rome and Wesley Shropshire of Summerville. The appointment will probably be made this week. Judge Maddox's resignation becomes effective February 1.

The newest for street wear, says The Dry Goods Economist, are the coat dresses, the modified drapery styles, the long waisted peasant models, the Russian blouses and the bolero jackets, together with a wide variety of simpler designs, which depend largely for their striking effects on the sashes, belts, collars, cuffs or vestees. Belts of leather, fancy cloth, metal or silk, appear in profusion on street dresses of all grades.

C. Crick and Miss Minnie Crick, of Huntsville, and W. H. Crick, of Oklahoma.

RATE CURB PUT ON COMMISSION

Railroads Score Victory Before U. S. Supreme Court.

Commission Can't Make Rates Without Railroads Being Heard---Courts May Review Commission's Work.

Washington, January 20.—The government, on behalf of the interstate commerce commission, today met defeat at the hands of the supreme court of the United States in its attempt to establish in the commission a right to make rates without substantial evidence being presented at a hearing to show the unreasonableness of rates about to be replaced.

At the same time, railroads of the country won an important point when the court decided that in making rates the commission could not rely upon information gathered in investigation by the commission, but must base them upon evidence presented at a hearing where the railroads would have an opportunity to present its side of the controversy.

In thus limiting the power of the commisison, the court declared that the question of whether any substantial evidence had been presented in a case was one of law for the courts, such as the commerce court, to review, and was not entrusted exclusively to the commission.

Lamar Announced Decision.

Justice Lamar announced the court's decision in a case involving the validity of an order reducing class rates from New Orleans to Alabama cities. He quoted the government's position that the Hepburn law, in providing that rates should be set aside, if, after a hearing, the commission should be of the opinion that the charge was unreasonable, meant that the commission's findings as to unreasonableness of rates was not subject to review by the courts.

The justice, in reply, pointed to that clause in the law which required a "full hearing" to be accorded, and the universal course of decisions in this country that an administrative order by the government was void, if issued without a hearing, or if the hearing was inadequate or unfair.

He stated the government's further contention that congress required the commission to obtain information to enable it to perform its duties, and that, therefore, when it issued an order, it was presumed to have obtained information to suport its findings.

"Such a construction," said the juctice, "would nullify the right to a hearing, for manifestly there is no hearing when the party does not know what evidence is offered or considered, or is not given an opportunity to test, or explain, or repudiate it. The information gathered may be used as the basis for instituting prosecutions for violations of the law and for many other purposes, but is not available as such in cases where the parties are entitled to a hearing."

Archbold Involved in Case.

In the decision the supreme court reversed the commerce court, the supreme court and permitted the order of the interstate commerce commission for reduced class rates from New Orleans to Mobile and other Alabama interior points to stand effective.

Having held that the commerce court could review the order in this case to see if any substantial evidence had been produced the supreme court decided, however, the commerce court had erred in finding, none had been presented.

The case involved a contest between the interstate commerce commission and the commerce court. It also attracted attention because a letter concerning the case, bearing the name of former Judge Archbald, then of the commerce court, and written to a railroad attorney at the time the judge was preparing the court's opinion, was made the basis for one of the charges in the impeachment proceedings against him.

BROTHER OF ATKINSON DIES IN BOSTON HOME

A telegram was received in Atlanta last night announcing the death in Boston of George B. Atkinson, brother of H. M. Atkinson, of Atlanta, chairman of the board of directors of the Georgia Railway and Power company, and co-receiver of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad.

George B. Atkinson was a prominent clubman of Boston, and was a well-known sportsman. He had visited Atlanta a number of times, and had a large circle of friends here who will regret to hear of his death. He was not married.

The family of H. M. Atkinson is now in Boston, where they will attend the funeral.

Medium to good cows, 700 to 800 pounds, $3.75 to $4.25.

Good to choice heifers, 750 to 850 pounds, $4.25 to $5.00.

Medium to good heifers, 650 to 750 pounds, $3.50 to $4.00.

The above represents ruling prices of good quality of beef cattle. Inferior grades and dairy types selling lower.

Mixed to common steers, if fat, 700 to 800 pounds, $4.25 to 4.75.

Medium to common cows, if fat, 700 to 800 pounds, $3.25 to $4.00.

Mixed common, 600 to 800 pounds, $2.75 to $3.25.

Good butcher bulls, $3.00 to $3.75.

Prime hogs, 160 to 200 average, $7.85 to $7.50.

Good butcher rogs, 140 to 160 average, $7.25 to $7.35.

Good butcher rogs, 140 to 160 average, $7.25 to $7.25.

Light pigs, 80 to 100 average, $6.50 to $7.00.

Heavy rough hogs, 200 to 250 average, $6.50 to $7.00.

Above quotations apply to corn-fed hogs, mast and peanut-fattened hogs 1 to 1½ cents under.

Cattle receipts normal. Assortment and general conditions better. Several loads of fed steers from nearby feed lots were on the market this week. These steers were not finished and should have been fed from 30 to 60 days longer; in fact until fat. Feeders should not put half-fat stuff on the market if they expect satisfactory results. A few loads of good cows were among the week's receipts, which met with good demand at slightly advanced prices.

Hogs steady and unchanged. Supply normal.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

ANOTHER BREAK MADE IN COTTON

Market Opened Easy and Closed Steady, 15 to 20 Points Off.

New York, January 20.—The cotton market was under more or less general pressure today and there was another sharp break in prices, with the close steady but from 15 to 24 points unedr the closing figures of Saturday.

The market opened easy at a decline of 13 to 17 points in response to lower Liverpool cables and sold 18 to 23 points net lower during the first few minutes under heavy offerings for both accounts. Realizing by recent sellers and buying for reaction checked the decline and caused a rally of 8 or 9 points from the lowest during the middle of the morning, but offerings continued very heavy with prices later showing renewed weakness and with the old crop months selling 22 to 28 points net lower. Much of the selling was believed to come from southern sources and the idea that interior holders were selling futures as a hedge against spots evidently added to the bearishness of local sentiment. Offerings were general as the market worked lower, with Wall street and other interests heavy sellers, while it looked as if people who had covered or bought cotton for a turn around the 12-cent level were either liquidating or reselling.

Around 11.69 for May, or about $6.55 per bale below the high record of last December, covering again became active enough to check the decline and closing prices were some 9 or 10 points up from the lowest. Business which had been very active during the early trading became comparatively quiet on the rally. One of the large spot interests was credited with selling during the day and Memphis was quite a seller here in the late trading.

Private cables attributed the weakness in Liverpool to American and continental selling and freer offerings of actual.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands 12.90; do. gulf 13.15; sales, 5,900 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, January 20.—Spot cotton quiet, 3-16 lower; middling, 12 5-16; sales on the spot, 3,350 bales; to arrive, 200; low ordinary, 8 15-16, nominal; ordinary, 9¾, nominal; good ordinary, 11⅝; strict good ordinary, 11⅝; low middling, 11¾; strict low middling, 12¼; middling, strict middling, 12½; good midling, 12 11-16; strict good middling, 12⅞; middling fair, 13 5-16, nominal; middling fair, 13 11-16, nominal; fair, 14 1-16, nominal; receipts, 4,813; stock, 179,805.

Cotton futures opened steady at a loss of 8 to 12 points, on poor cables. Gossip on the floor of the exchange was very bearish. Much was made of the falling off in the spot demand and attention was called to the lack of bull support. While the market oppeared to be well liquidated of the long interest it recently held, offerings were plentiful, which made it appear that even outside interests were selling short. Weather conditions over the belt were called very favorable. Soon after the call, prices were 12 to 14 points down. Shorts took profit and caused a reaction, the market standing at a net loss of 4 to 6 points at the end of the first half hour of business.

The recovery was short lived. The hard spot was what many traders with bearish tendencies were waiting for and they swamped the market with offerings, with the result that prices were sen lower than ever.

May was put down to 11.87, a new level for the present downward movement. At the lowest, the trading months were 18 to 20 points under Saturday's last quotations. A moderate volume of stop loss orders were brought out on the way down. Late in the morning, shorts were again heavy profit-takers and the market reacted again, at noon, standing at a net loss of 12 to 14 points.

In the afternoon the market was dull and featureless.

At 2 o'clock prices were 14 to 16 points under Saturday's closing level.

Cotton futures closed steady at a net decline of 5 to 13 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, January 20.—The basis of operations on flannelettes for fall was 8½ cents for 19[illegible]keag. Cotton goods were quiet in pri[illegible]rcles. Jobbers continue to report a fair trade for the season. Strikes in the cutting trade in New York city are disorganizing deliveries of piece goods.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, January 20.—The market opened 13 to 17 points down today on very weak cables. Some American longs grew so frightened that they sold in Liverpool, not being willing to wait until New York was open. There was considerable forced liquidation on this break and some selling short by Wall street outsiders, who are bearish on everything because stocks are weak. There was a good class of buying during the day, however, and the close was steady.

Closing prices on the active position were 15 to 21 points lower than those Saturday. July is the most badly oversold month on the board. On an advancing market, July should pull up even with May.

Liverpool is due to come ½ to 2 points up.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, January 20.—The market has been under heavy liquidation and speculative selling today, resulting in a decline of 25 points in prices. Despite reports that holders at the interior are not following the decline here, the south sold a god deal during the morning. However, the selling came from general sources and not any one particular section. At the decline, the trade was a liberal buyer and local operators were disposed to aid the market toward recovery. The selling of the past ten days has undoubtedly corrected the weak features of the market, but the unsettled political policy of the country has a deterring effect on speculative operators who might otherwise support the market aggressively in view of favorable business conditions.

WHEAT DECLINED NEARLY ONE CENT

Lower Cables and an Increase in Visible Supply Factors in the Decline.

Chicago, January 20.—Wheat declined 3-4@7-8c net today. Corn and oats were steady and provisions scored a further advance.

The decline in wheat began at the opening. It was checked momentarily by purely local influence, but was weak thereafter. Lower cables, an increase in the visible supply, as compared with a big decrease a year ago, and an increase of 2,500,000 bushels in the quantity afloat and heavy world's shipments were too much for the price. Export business was flat, as was that in the spot market. The close was only 1-8c over the bottom.

While the corn market had the appearance of heaviness, it was firm as compared with wheat, receding only 1-8@1-4c. Trade was dull. Receipts were heavy and the cash market stagnant. A bearish statement by a well-known expert, although pretty well discounted, still had some influence when it appeared in cold type.

Oats were quiet and steady. Prices advanced early, but the gan was lost when wheat declined and the close was unchanged from yesterday.

Packers still were buyers of provisions, owing to light receipts at primary points. Hog cholera, according to an expert authority, and other causes, have cut the supply 14 per cent under that of a year ago. Closing prices were from 7 1-2 to 17 1-2 over Saturday.

INAUGURAL BALL INTO THE DISCARD

No Dancing Will Mark Ceremonies Incident to the Inauguration of Wilson.

Washington, January 20.—The time-honored inaugural ball, the climax of the ceremonies incident to the inauguration of presidents of the United States, will not be given this year. In compliance with President-elect Wilson's wishes, the inaugural committee, at a special meeting today, unanimously decided to eliminate it.

The committee also decided a public reception at the capitol or elsewhere, suggested by Governor Wilson as a substitute for the ball, was not within its jurisdiction, and if one is held, congress must appropriate and make the necessary arrangements for it. The committee took the position that the proposed reception would be purely a governmental function, under the control of the joint congressional inaugural committee. In a resolution adopted, however, the committee announced that it would co-operate in every way possible with all arrangements for the successful inauguration of the president-elect.

The members of the joint congressional committee on the inauguration are Senators Crane, of Massachusetts; Bacon, of Georgia, and Overman, of North Carolina, and Representatives McKinley, of Illinois; Rucker, of Missouri, and Garrett, of Tennessee. Senator Crane declined today to express an opinion regarding the proposed reception, stating that the matter had not been officially placed before the committee. The suggested reception met with the hearty approval of Representative McKinley.

Governor Wilson's wish, in the event of there being a public reception on March 4, is that Mrs. Wilson and the Misses Wilson should not be expected to attend. This information was conveyed to the inaugural committee having in charge the inaugural ceremonies.

Wilson Wants Popular Reception.

Trenton, N. J., January 20.—President-elect Wilson today formally suggested to William Corcoran Eustis, chairman of the inaugural committee, that a popular reception in the capitol building at Washington be substituted for the inaugural ball.

Mr. Wilson this morning received a telegram from Mr. Eustis assuring him that the inaugural committee would comply with his wishes with respect to the abandonment of the inaugural ball. A letter also came asking the president-elect for suggestions.

"I suggested for their consideration," said Mr. Wilson, "a general reception in the rotunda of the capitol."

Mr. Wilson said he expected the details to be worked out by the committee, but reiterated the wish that the entire program of the inauguration be made "as simple as is consistent with dignity and order."

CARELESSNESS CAUSED THIS RAILWAY HORROR

Washington, January 20.—Careless signalling was indicated in a report to the interstate commerce commission today as the primary cause of an accident on the New Orleans division of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad near Montz, La., November 12, in which fifteen passengers were killed and 249 passengers and three employes were injured. No block system was employed on the railroad

FIANCE'S DOUBLE TO ACT AT THE GOULD WEDDING

Tarrytown, N. Y., January 20.—Rev. Daniel Russell, of the Irvington Presbyterian church, who will officiate at the wedding ceremony of Miss Helen Gould and Finley J. Shepard on Wednesday, is almost a "double" of the bridegroom. Friends who have commented upon the resemblance say that the bride herself might even have difficulty in saying which was which at a little distance except for the fact that the clergyman wears glasses and her fiance does not. The work of decorating Lyndhurst, Miss Gould's mansion, began today.

Pink roses from the bride's own conservatory will be largely used.

Every-day Dyspepsia

S. B. HARTMAN, M.D. Columbus, Ohio.

In my article last Sunday I made the statement that there are a great many cases of catarrh of the stomach that are not recognized as such.

I want to emphasize that statement. Nearly every case of so-called dyspepsia is in reality catarrh of the stomach. A great many cases of so-called rheumatism are catarrh of the stomach. A great many cases of constipation are caused by catarrh of the stomach. A great many cases that come under the general term of biliousness are catarrh of the stomach

Thousands of Testimonials.

As stated in my article last Sunday, there is no class of cases that write me more frequently or more enthusiastically as to the benefits received from Pe-ru-na than this very class. I feel safe in saying that a greater number of people have recovered from catarrh of the stomach by taking Pe-ru-na than any other remedy in the world. This may be partly due to the fact that more people know about Pe-ru-na than any other remedy, but it is certainly also due to the fact that Pe-ru-na is an excellent remedy for such cases.

Write to Dr. Hartman.

Wherever it seems to fail a letter calling my attention to the matter is generally sufficient for me to be able to set it right. Even though Pe-ru-na be taken, the patient may be imprudent in his diet or habits and thus defeat the remedy. But under ordinary, reasonable circumstances Pe-ru-na may confidently be expected to render exactly the assistance that Nature needs in these cases.

TWO COMMITTEES TO REVISE CHARTER

the charter agreed to will be submitted to the people to vote on.

While council ran slip-shod over business to play politics, Mayor C. A. Bading, of Milwaukee, and Public Works Commissioner Fred Simmons, viewed the unusual proceedings with interest.

At one stage of the fight Alderman Nutting made a remark that evidently did not please Councilman W. G. Humphrey and for a brief space it appeared as though the pair would muss each other up.

"I'll slap your face," Councilman Humphrey told Alderman Nutting.

He shook his finger in Alderman Nutting's face, and he appeared eager to carry out his threat.

Alderman Nutting moved away from the irate councilman. He muttered something that could not be heard except by those close by.

There Was No Face-Slapping.

Alderman John E. McClelland, who led the fight against the attempt to stifle the demand for charter reform, said that he did not consider the defeat of the Humphrey resolution as a blow against charter revision. The mayor will have the appointment of the citizens, one from each ward, and the citizens' committee can co-operate with the councilmanic representation on the committee.

Judge Spencer S. Atkinson, chairman of the committee appointed at the mass meeting at the Kimball house, urged council to give the people the new charter they demanded. He asked council to adopt the Humphrey resolution, and explained that the citizens he represented wished to co-operate with council. He said that there was no complaint to offer against council's past actions, and did not expect to complain of its actions in the future. He said that he felt sure council would recognize the demand for a new charter to replace the present piece of patchwork.

Council applauded Judge Atkinson and then proceeded to flatten out the Humphrey resolution with the anti-Woodward administration "steam roller."

Judge John S. Candler declared that whatever charter is agreed on should be submitted to the people.

"The government of Atlanta should be changed to give the city the up-to-date administration it should have," declared Councilman Charles Whitford Smith.

Councilman Thomson urged an amendment to take the appointment of the committee from the mayor and place it in the hands of the mayor pro tem.

Opposes Thomson Resolution.

Councilman Ashley opposed the Thomson suggestion. He said that it would be like "slapping the mayor in the face."

"It will be a great misfortune to get up two charters," Mayor Pro Tem Warren declared after he surrendered the gavel. "The people may take to one part of one charter and not the other. It looks to me like it is getting up a fight.

"The committee named by the mayor is an able committee. They are patriotic. I think that members of council are more able to get up a charter, and if there is co-operation between the two committees you will get a charter that will be approved from one end of the town to the other.

"If you divide on this question you are going to destroy the chance of getting the charter. The two committees can get a charter that will be for the benefit of the entire city, and one to be proud of."

Alderman Ragsdale said that the committee named by the mayor should be added to the committee suggested in the Nutting resolution.

"I think they will get up a good charter," he declared.

Alderman Nutting opposed the mayor's committee. He vigorously denounced it as being partisan. He said that he was opposed to commission government, and charged that the mayor's committee was composed of commission government advocates.

The chief objection to the mayor's committee seemed to lie in the fact that Mayor Woodward failed to name Judge Candler as a member.

The mayor's committee is composed of Captain James W. English, Fred J. Paxon, Charles T. Hopkins, Martin Amorous, L. S. Bauknight, Edward H. Inman, E. V. Carter, Alex C. King, John H. Welch and John Loewus.

Committee Set Aside.

The defeat of the resolution sets the committee aside.

Alderman Ragsdale went to the defense of the committee when he declared that the committee was composed of fair and able-minded men.

"I know that three members of the committee are opposed to commission government," he said.

Alderman Nutting said that he thought all the members of the committee were commission government men.

He was asked by Alderman McClelland why he appointed himself on the committee. No reply was made by the sixth ward alderman.

Judge Candler pleaded against a division of council on the committee appointments.

"The city is too big and its interests are too vital to be divided," he said. "The city needs the brains of the best men available, and if commission government men are put on the committee no harm can be done, if they are fair men.

"I am not afraid of commission government if the people want it."

Alderman McClelland said that the whole fight was nothing more than an attack on Mayor Woodward. He charged the opponents of the Humphrey resolution with playing politics, and warned them that the people would soon call a halt and demand that they get a business administration for the taxes they pay.

The Nutting resolution was offered by Aldermen Nutting, Spratling, Maddox and Candler, and Councilmen Baskin, Wardlaw, Thomson, Greer, Sisson, Boynton, Abernathy, Smith, White, Mason and Wimbrough.

BONDS ARE APPROVED TO FREE LABOR MEN

Chicago, January 20.—Bonds of $30,000 each for the release of W. Bert Brown and William J. McCain, of Kansas City, union iron workers, recently sentenced to three years' imprisonment for conspiracy in connection with the illegal transportation of dynamite, were approved by the federal court of appeals here today. The men will be released from Leavenworth in a few days pending appeal of the cases.

The $60,000 bonds tendered in behalf of Eugene Clancy, of San Francisco, were not approved because of objections made by District Attorney Miller.

The bond of William E. Reddin, of Milwaukee, for $30,000 also was approved.

SAUSAGE SKINS FULL OF GASOLINE

Used by the Chicago "Arson Trust" to Start Fires.

Chicago, January 20.—"Gasoline sausages" were used to start incendiary fires by members of the alleged "arson ring," according to testimony presented to State's Attorney Hoyne today. In one fire it was said a score or more of sausage skins filled with gasoline were strung on wires. These "gasoline sausages" exploded when the fire reached them and spread the flames. A chemical preparation known as "fire powder" was also used in starting the incendiary blazes. Use of this preparation enabled the "firebug" to be several miles away from the building before the blaze was discovered.

"Got Rich Out of Arson."

New York, January 20.—Describing Herry C. Freeman, a wealthy insurance broker, who, with four other men, was indicted today for complicity in the "arson trust" as a man who "has got rich out of his arson crimes," Assistant District Attorney Weller demanded that Freeman's bail be fixed at $50,000.

"This man has worked in the dark," said the proescuting attorney. "He never showed in the open. He hired 'mechanics' and profited by their acts. The penalty for the offense is twenty-five years' imprisonment."

Freeman and Abraham Schlichten, another of the indicted men, were remanded to the Tombs without bail until tomorrow. The names of the other three men were not disclosed.

One man in Sing Sing for twenty years, another convicted and to be sentenced, five under indictment and awaiting trial and others indicted and being sought, this is the record of the prosecution to date in the investigation in the alleged "trust."

SHOT THRO' HEART BY AUTO BANDIT

Chicago, January 20.—A climax to the search for members of the automobile bandit crew came today with the shooting and killing of Detective Peter Hart, supposedly by one of the bandits.

The detective was shot through the heart when he entered a flat at 1617 South Wabash avenue to arrest "Bob" Webb, said to be an accomplice of James B. Perry, confessed bandit, now under arrest.

After shooting Hart, the assassin leaped through a window to an adjoining room, ran the length of a block, went down a stairway and escaped in a crowd.

Knowledge that Webb had a woman friend in the flat led the police to watch the place. Arrangements were made with an occupant of another flat in the building to notify the detectives if Webb came.

Hart was told this afternoon that Webb was there, and the detective hurried to the place. Evidently he encountered his slayer soon, for other detectives, attracted by the sound of a shot, arrived in the flat within a few minutes after Hart did and found him near death. He died before they could call a doctor.

The woman in the flat was arrested. She was identified as Miss Isabella Hastings, a sister of Mrs. Michael Casella, whose husband was a witness to the shooting.

According to Casella, Detective Hart was holding Webb on the floor when Webb obtained Hart's revolver and shot him.

FATAL INITIATION CASE GOES TO FEDERAL COURT

Anderson, S. C., January 20.—Circuit Judge Shipp today signed an order transferring the case of S. P. Taylor as administrator for S. M. Taylor, deceased vs. The Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World, from the state court to the western district of the federal court. S. M. Taylor was fired on and killed while initiating Furman Bagwell into the mysteries of the order. The fatal shot being fired by the candidate, S. P. Taylor, father of the deceased, is asking for damages in the amount of $20,000. The case will come to trial at the next term of federal court in Greenville, S. C.

"BORN TO DIE THIS WAY," SUICIDE WROTE MOTHER

Macon, Ga., January 20.—(Special.)—Three letters were left by Charles T. Hayes, of Athens, who committed suicide here Monday morning, but while they tell the story of his determination to die, no reference was made to his whereabouts during the month, since his disappearance from home. He arrived in Macon Sunday night, and was arrested, as he seemed to be under the influence of drink. He died from laudanum poisoning some hours later.

"Do not grieve for me; I was born to go this way," read one of the letters addressed to his mother.

The one to his wife called her "darling," and begged her to forgive him and to raise their children as best she could. The third letter was addressed to Mrs. S. S. King, Rome, Ga.

Relatives have taken charge of the body.

ELOPING WIFE MORALLY INSANE

That Was Verdict of Doctors on Mrs. Sneed--Epting Tells of Al Boyce's Killing.

Memphis, Texas, January 20.—Physicians testified today in the trial of B. B. Epting, charged with complicity in the killing of Al G. Boyce, Jr., by John Beal Sneed, regarding the mental condition of Mrs. Sneed.

Dr. P. D. Means, Sneed's family physician, said Mrs. Sneed was nervous and hysterical prior to the first time she was placed in a Fort Worth sanitarium.

Dr. John S. Turner, of Dallas, testified after visiting Mrs. Sneed three times he found her "morally insane." She was much wrought up, he said.

Senator Odell, of the prosecution, asked Dr. Turner whether he had asked Mrs. Sneed if she "loved Al Boyce," or "whom she wanted to see most."

Turner said he had not asked her such a question.

Epting testified in his own defense today, saying he was J. B. Sneed's servant on Sneed's last trip to Amarillo, where young Boyce was killed, and that Sneed misled him. He did not know Sneed was going to kill Boyce, he said, and said he did not go to jail to see Sneed after the killing.

"I thought I had no business to see a man who misled me like he did," Epting said.

Epting's direct examination was brief. He told of having been a tenant farmer on Sneed's land for three years, of how Sneed sent for him to come to Fort Worth about ten days before the killing, said Sneed told him he wanted to go to Amarillo to wind up his business, and he (Sneed) was going dressed in overalls because he did not want anyone to recognize him.

"He said he wanted to get away from the Boyces," Epting said.

He told of renting the "death cottage," in front of which Boyce was killed.

RIOT BREAKS IN LEGISLATURE

Cheyenne, Wyo., January 20.—A riot broke out in the house of representatives of the Wyoming legislature today when Speaker Pratt and Speaker Pro Tem. Wood both claimed the right to preside. A violent fight, which was interrupted by members, took place between Pratt and Wood.

With Wood sitting in the speaker's chair and Pratt wielding the gavel, the show of authority seemed about equal.

The immediate occasion of the trouble was the attempt of Speaker Pratt to call to the chair F. C. Hunter, republican.

Mr. Hunter took the chair, and Pratt went to Hunter's seat on the floor.

Judge Metz, democrat, declared the speaker could not designate any other than the speaker pro tem. to take the chair, and called upon W. J. Wood, speaker pro tem. and a democrat, to preside. This Wood proceeded to do and Hunter yielded.

Thereupon Pratt started to resume the chair himself. Wood sat staunchly in his place until Pratt, grasping him by the shoulders, threw him from the platform. Wood promptly arose and rushed back, and the men struggled until several men got them apart.

Wielding the gavel, Pratt declared the house adjourned.

Using a paper weight for a gavel, Wood shouted to the sergeant-at-arms to close the doors. He then called for a roll call. Standing over the chief clerk, gavel in hand, Pratt forbade the calling of the roll. Pratt attempted again to get his own chair, and when Representative Sproul, a democrat, attempted to interfere, he was kicked in the stomach by the speaker. Further violence was averted.

Upon convening at 2 o'clock, the house was called to order by Speaker Pratt, but soon was adjourned until tomorrow.

High Prices for Live Stock.

Huntsville, Ala., January 20.—(Special.)—The live stock market is livelier at this point than in several years past and high prices are being paid. It is estimated that 700 horses and mules have been sold here within the last week. The cattle market is also becoming of some importance, this being due to the eradication of the Texas fever tick from this county.

ELKS FINED $500 UNDER PROHI LAW

Valdosta, Ga., January 20.—(Special.) The Valdosta Elks' club pleaded guilty to a technical violation of the prohibition law today, and was fined $500 by Judge Cranford, of the district court.

One other charge against the club and two indictments against R. L. Thomas, formerly manager of the club, in which the state admitted the evidence was weak, were nolprossed on promise of the attorney for the club that its operation would be amended to comply with the law.

The club claimed that, if there was a violation of law, it was unintentional, and would not occur again. The cases against the Elks are similar to those against the Owls' club, one of which was tried last week.

The Owls fought the cases, being found guilty on ten indictments, and fined $1,000.

Killed in Strike Riot.

Haverhill, Mass., January 20.—Joe Harris, a shoe worker, died today from a bullet wound received during a strike disturbance last night. Charles Eaton, who had refused to join the Shoe Workers' strike, is under arrest on a charge of manslaughter. It is alleged that Eaton, angered by the taunts and threats of a crowd of strikers, who had been following him, fired his pistol at them, the bullet striking Harris in the abdomen.

TRAIN ROBBERY CHARGED TO MOON

Birmingham, Ala., January 20.—Marshal Moon, formerly an employee of the railway postal service, was arrested in Woodlawn, a suburb of Birmingham, tonight, charged with holding up a Southern railway train near Lincoln, Ala., early Sunday morning. He was lodged in jail, and his bond was fixed at $2,000. Moon is said to be addicted to drugs, and not at all times in possession of his faculties. His parents live at Lincoln, Ala.

Moon is apparently about 25 years old, and of a very nervous temperament.

Officers stated that he denied the charge when arrested, and he has steadfastly refused to talk tonight. He was accompanied to the jail by his wife and aged father, who had come over from Lincoln.

His preliminary trial will be held this week, and officers all declined to state the nature of their evidence against him.

Homes Built to Suit

We want to build fifteen or twenty houses in our Stewart avenue subdivision near the Tenth Ward school. We can build these houses according to the customer's own plans, and arrange easy terms of payment.

Now is the time to come in and discuss with our building department the kind of house you wish. You can select a lot, give us an idea of what you want, and we will turn the house over to you complete in every respect.

Anyone who inspects the houses we have already put up in this subdivision can see the high grade of workmanship and material used. We build houses to last and to make every customer feel like passing the word along.
